Answering the Baseless Shīʿī Allegations Against Sayyidunā ʿUmar

The Incident of Qirțās and the Background

It is the beloved pastime of some people to criticise the Ṣaḥābah of Rasūlullāh ﴿ وَالْمُعْمَالِينَ وَ وَالْمُعَالِينَ وَ الْمُعَالِينَ وَ الْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَلَمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعَالِينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعَلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِي وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِي وَالْمُعِلِي وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِّينِ وَالْمُعِلِينِ وَالْمُعِلِينِ وَالْمُعِلِي وَلِمُعِلِي وَالْمُعِلِي وَالْمُعِلِي وَالْمُ

The scholars of the Ahl al-Sunnah have replied to these baseless criticisms in every generation. Subsequently, there is a long list of such criticisms levelled against the second khalīfah, Sayyidunā 'Umar al-Fārūq ÉÉÉÉ. Presently, there is a journal published, entitled Yād-e Fārūq, which in addition to other (baseless) criticisms and objections, the objection relating to the incident of Qirṭās was also mentioned. It carried the heading 'The Obedience of Ḥaḍrat Fārūq, The analogy of Allah and His Rasūl in the commentary of the Ḥadīth of Qirṭās'.

In the following pages, the discussion will revolve around dismissing this criticism and clarity will be presented on behalf of the Sahābah

Days of the Final Illness

A number of important incidents took place during the final illness of Rasūlullāh final illness of Rasūlullāh final illness of ḥadīth and sīrah have discussed them at length. In short, there were a number of bequests made to the ummah and a number of other instructions were given for various needs by Rasūlullāh for certain statements were made specifically for certain individuals like Sayyidunā Usāmah ibn Zayd for certain instructions given regarding the pure spouses and the Ahl al-Bayt. The details of this can be studied in the following works:

- 1. Țabaqāt Ibn Sa'd vol. 2 pp. 10-48
- 2. Dalā'il al-Nubuwwah vol. 7

- 3. Al-Ihsān bi Tartīb Şahīh Ibn Hibbān vol. 9 p. 201-205
- 4. Al-Bidāyah wa al-Nihāyah vol. 5

One of these incidents that took place was the incident of Qirṭās. It took place during the final illness of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا , on Thursday, during the first ten days of Rabīʿ al-Awwal 11 A.H. The following Monday, Rasūlullāh مَالِيَّا لَعَامِيْ went on to meet Allah Taʿālā and he left this temporary world.

Summary of the Incident of Qirtas

Amongst the various narrations of the incident of Qirṭās, we present a narration of Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās , through which a broad picture of the incident of Qirṭās will come to light and one will be guided to the reality of the incident, away from all the exaggeration of this particular narration.

This narration has been transmitted by Abū Yaʻlā al-Mowsulī (d. 307 A.H.), in his work Musnad Abū Yaʻlā, with the following words:

سفيان بن عيينة عن سليمان الاحول عن سعيد بن جبير عن ابن عباس قال : يوم الخميس وما يوم الخميس يوم الخميس يوم اشتد برسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم وجعه فقال ايتوني اكتب لكم كتابا لا تضلون بعده فتنازعوا ولا ينبغي عند النبي تنازع قال دعوني فما انا فيه خير مما تسئلوني عنه قال امرهم بثلاث قال اخرجوا المشركين من جزيرة العرب واجيزوا الوفد بنحو ما كنت اجيزهم ...الخ

Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās said: "What is Thursday? Thursday was when the pain of Rasūlullāh worsened, so he said to those present: "Bring a paper. I shall write something after which you will not go astray." Upon this, those present had a difference of opinion and argued, whereas it is not appropriate to argue in front of Rasūlullāh So Rasūlullāh is said: "Leave me. The condition I am in is better than that which you ask me about." Rasūlullāh is then issued commands regarding three things: the polytheists should be removed from the Arabian Peninsula; the delegations should be dealt with in a good way as he used to deal with them....¹

Subsequently, Rasūlullāh مَالِسَمُ put off the matter of writing and he did not dictate anything.

This was the initial events surrounding the incident of Qirṭās (referred to as the incident of the pen and paper by the Shīˈah).

Soon after this, during his last days and in fact the same Thursday, Rasūlullāh delivered an important sermon to the Ṣaḥābah when he experienced some relief. In this sermon, he explained a number of important matters and together with this, he mentioned a number of points of special importance and the virtues of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr

Rasūlullāh said: "In terms of companionship and wealth, the one who benefitted me the most was Abū Bakr." Another narration states: "If I were to take a close friend from the people, then I would have made Abū Bakr my close friend, but there is the bonds of Islam." He also said: "All the doors opening into the Masjid should be closed except for the door of Abū Bakr."

Moreover, Ibn Kathīr هَمْ says in al-Bidāyah wa al-Nihāyah:

Rasūlullāh said that all the small doors opening into the Masjid should be closed, except for the door of Abū Bakr said. There is clear indication in this to the khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr said, that he will come from this door to lead the Muslims in ṣalāh.²

Research of Ibn Kathir

In order to resolve the issue of Qirṭās, ʿAllāmah ibn Kathīr has clarified in al-Bidāyah wa al-Nihāyah:

وهذا الحديث مما قد توهم به بعض الاغبياء من اهل البدع من الشيعة وغيرهم كل مدع انه كان يريد ان يكتب في ذالك الكتاب ما يرمون اليه من مقالاتهم وهذا هو التمسك بالمتشابه وترك المحكم واهل السنة ياخذون بالمحكم ويردون ما تشابه اليه وهذه طريقة الراسخين في العلم كما وصفهم الله عزوجل في كتابه وهذا المواضع مما زل فيه اقدام كثير من اهل الضلالات واما اهل السنة فليس لهم مذهب الا اتباع الحق يدورون معه كيفما دار وهذا الذي كان يريد عليه الصلوة والسلام ام يكتبه قد جاء في الاحاديث الصحيحة التصريح بكشف المراد منه

Some of the innovators, amongst the Shī'ah etc., have misconstrued (from the narration of Qirṭās) that in this letter, Rasūlullāh intended to dictate that which supports there ideologies(in other words that a decree in favour of Sayyidunā 'Alī was was going to be written). This is grasping onto conjecture and abandoning that which is resolute; whereas the Ahl al-Sunnah grasp onto the resolute and refute that which is conjecture. This is the method of those who are firm in knowledge, as Allah Taʿālā explains in the Qurʾān. This is the position where the feet of the deviated have slipped, but we — the Ahl al-Sunnah — follow the way of the truth and wherever the truth goes, that is where the Ahl al-Sunnah can be found. What Rasūlullāh intended to dictate has been reported in other authentic ahadīth, and he clarified his intention.¹

Narration of Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah al-Ṣiddīqah

Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah @ narrates:

عن عائشة قالت قال لي رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في مرضه ادعي لي أبابكر وأخاك حتى اكتب كتابا فاني اخاف ان يتمنى متمن ويقول قائل انا أولى ويأبي الله والمؤمنون إلا أبابكر

Rasūlullāh said to me (Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah) during his illness:

"Summon for me Abū Bakr, your father, and your brother so that I may write a letter; for I fear that some desirous person may be tempted and someone will claim to be better. Whereas Allah and the believers will refuse everyone except Abū Bakr."

Narration of Sayyidunā ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Bakr

There is another narration that has the same subject matter, narrated from Sayyidunā ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Bakr

عبد الرحمن بن أبي بكر رضي الله عنه قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ائتني بدواة وكتف اكتب لكم كتابا لن تضلوا بعده أبدا ثم ولا ناقفاه ثم اقبل علينا فقال يأبي الله والمؤمنون إلا أبا بكر...قال الذهبي اسناده صحيح

During these last days, Rasūlullāh على said to him: "Bring ink and paper. I shall write something for you, so that you will never go astray later on." Rasūlullāh على then turned his back to us. A little while later, Rasūlullāh turned to us and said: "Allah and the believers will refuse everyone except Abū Bakr." 2

The summary of this discussion is that the initial instruction of Rasūlullāh شَاهَا اللهُ when asking for the paper was concise and vague in terms of its purpose. However, when Rasūlullāh المالة spoke later on — after feeling a little better — he clarified his intentions and was resolute therein that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr was worthy of leading the ṣalāh and worthy of standing as the deputy of Rasūlullāh مَالِيَّا اللهُ مِنْ مُنْ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلِيْهُ عَلَيْهُ ع

Research of 'Allāmah al-Bayhaqī

At this point, al-Bayhaqī 🍇 has mentioned the statement of Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah ﷺ, from which the view of the Taba' Tābi'īn is clarified:

Sufyān ibn 'Uyaynah sizes says that the objective was to dictate the khilāfah (succession) of Abū Bakr.¹

Also, ʿAllāmah al-Bayhaqī هَمْ اللهُ has mentioned at this point:

Rasūlullāh siem informed the ummah by appointing Abū Bakr in his place when he could not come for the ṣalāh, of the succession of Abū Bakr sies.²

In other words, appointing Abū Bakr نقيقة in his place was a gesture from Rasūlullāh مناسخة that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr would succeed him, thus the verbal directive which Rasūlullāh مناسخة intended to write initially — in the incident of Qirṭās — was actually executed in deed.

Explanation of the Narration

Then, at this point, the ḥadīth scholars have mentioned a number of explanations for this incident. 'Allāmah Badr al-Dīn al-'Aynī 🍇 says:

Rasūlullāh felt it more expedient to leave out the writing, or revelation came to him in this matter.³

² Dalā'il al-Nubuwwah vol. 7 p. 184

³ Aynī: Sharaḥ al-Bukhārī vol. 2 p. 171

Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Ḥajr clarifies this matter in his work Fatḥ al-Bārī in the following way:

The intention of Rasūlullāh (to dictate) was either by waḥī or based upon his ijtihād, similarly, his decision to abandon it was based either on wahī or ijtihād.

In short, he changed his previous intention and abandoned the matter of writing.

Support from the Shīʿah

The Shīī scholars also accept this:

The silence of Rasūlullāh was after the argument was not from his own side, but it was on account of waḥ \bar{n} , as will be explained in its place. So, the matter of writing was abrogated through waḥ \bar{n} .

The summary of the discussion is that in whatever way the matter of writing was abandoned, the desired result was still achieved, and the matter of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr being the successor of Rasūlullāh was clarified, and the intention of the incident of Qirṭās was clarified.

A doubt and the reply

The critics of the Ṣaḥābah مُنْفَقَعُةُ raise a question here that in the above mentioned incident, Rasūlullāh مَالِثُمُتُهُ وَاللهُ intended to dictate the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Alī

but on account of the opposition of some Ṣaḥābah مُنْسَانِهُ, Rasūlullāh مُنْسَانِهُ, Rasūlullāh مُنْسَانِهُ وَمِنْ اللهِ وَمِنْ اللّهِ وَمِنْ اللّهِ وَمِنْ اللّهِ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِيْمِ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَاللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَلِي

Ponder over the following points in order to dispel the doubt:

• Sayyidunā ʿAlī عَلَيْنَ himself discusses this issue and says that during the final illness of Rasūlullāh المعتقدة instructed him to bring a paper so that he could write an instruction so that the ummah does not fall into deviation after him. Sayyidunā ʿAlī عَلَيْنَا عَلَى says that looking at the worried nature of Rasūlullāh مَا الله passes away in his absence. He said: "Tell me, I shall protect the instruction and keep it in my mind." Rasūlullāh عَلَى عَلَيْنَا الله عَلَيْنَا

Rasūlullāh مَالْسُنَا made a bequest regarding ṣalāh, zakāh and slaves.

The following senior scholars have mentioned the above mentioned narration:

- 1. Musnad Imām Aḥmad عَمَانَاهُ vol. 1 p. 90
- 2. Al-Adab al-Mufrad p. 26
- 3. Țabaqāt ibn Sa'd vol. 12 p. 37
- 4. Al-Bidāyah wa al-Nihāyah vol. 5 p. 238

This narration of Sayyidunā 'Alī ﴿ Clarifies the matter that Rasūlullāh made this bequest to Sayyidunā 'Alī ﴿ On this occasion and this narration is testimony that the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Alī ﴿ Was not meant.

• Similarly, there is another similar narration from Sayyidunā ʿAlī ʿaʾaʾaʾa and Sayyidunā ʿAbbās ʾaʾaʾaʾa. This is also a reason to say that on this occasion it was not the objective to write the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿAlī ʾaʾaʾaʾa.

It is reported that during the final illness of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا وَهُولِلَّهُ said to Sayyidunā 'Alō عَالِسُنَا ''I see the signs of death on the face of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا ''Therefore, we must ask regarding the successor of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا ''This matter is in our favour, then we should know and if it is in the favour of someone else, then Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا فَاللَّهُ should make a bequest for us.'' Sayyidunā 'Alō عَالِلُهُ عَالَمُ عَنْ مَا اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَنْ said in reply to this proposal of Sayyidunā 'Abbās عَلَيْهُ ''

I shall never ask Rasūlullāh مالمنظينة regarding this. By Allah, if Rasūlullāh والمنظينة forbids us in this matter, then people will never give us an opportunity later on.¹

Similarly, there are other narrations from Sayyidunā ʿAlī in which the concept of khilāfah bilā faṣl (khilāfah without interruption) is negated. However, at this time, we suffice upon only two narrations.

By means of the two above mentioned narrations, the khilāfah bilā faṣl of Sayyidunā ʿAlī is negated.

Other points

If it is accepted that Rasūlullāh ﴿ wanted to dictate khilāfah bilā faṣl for Sayyidunā 'Alī ﴿ Alī ﴿ Diama ' Umar ﴿ Or the other Ṣaḥābah ﴿ Prevented him from doing so, then the point that we must turn our attention to is that the incident of Qirṭās took place on a Thursday. Rasūlullāh ﴿ Premained alive for four days after this incident and passed away on Monday. During this time, those who disputed would have definitely gone and there would have been a number of occasions where Rasūlullāh would have been alone. During this time, why did he not write out the necessary document (regarding the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿAlī Why was this matter not concluded?

Subsequently, 'Allāmah al-Bayhaqī mentions this in the following text:

ولو كان ما يريد النبي صلى الله عليه سلم ان يكتب لهم شيئا مفروضا لا يستغنون عنه لم يتركه باختلافهم ولغطهم لقول الله عزوجل بلغ ما أنزل اليك من ربك كما لم يترك تبلغ غيره بمخالفه من خالفه ومعاداه من اداه

If Rasūlullāh intended to dictate something necessary, something that could not be left out, then Rasūlullāh could not have left it out because of the mutual difference of opinion and the noise because Allah Taʻālā said: "Convey whatever has been revealed to you from your Rabb," and just as Rasūlullāh rever left out conveying and propagating religion on account of the opposition and enmity of the enemies.

'Allāmah al-Dhahabī نَّ الْهُ has discussed this issue in his work Al-Muntaqā in a number of places. He has written that if Rasūlullāh ساله wanted to dictate something necessary, he would have definitely dictated and had it written. Nothing could stop him. "O Rasūl, convey what has been revealed to you from your Rabb and if you do not, then you have not conveyed the message."

This means that whatever Rasūlullāh المنتخبينة intended to write, if the guidance of the ummah was dependent on it, then Rasūlullāh would not have left it out, simply because this will negate the position of Rasūlullāh على المنتخبينة as being the guide of the ummah, and contradicts his status as a propagator of the message of Allah.

Leading the Salāh

One aspect on this topic that the senior scholars discuss in establishing the khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and its true nature is the matter of leading the ṣalāh. In light of it, the vagueness of the incident of Qirṭās will be clarified.

During his final illness, Rasūlullāh ﴿ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ instructed Sayyidunā Abū Bakr ﴿ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَّهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَّا عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ

Instruct Abū Bakr that he should lead the people in ṣalāh.

The Shīʿī and Sunnī scholars have mentioned this statement in their books. Subsequently, at the top of the list are the following references:

- 1. Bukhārī vol. 1 p. 93
- 2. Dalā'il al-Nubuwwah vol. 7 p. 182

Support from the Shīʿah

We shall present only two references from the Shīʿī scholars, who are considered reliable by them. Ibn Abī al-Ḥadīd writes in Sharḥ Nahj al-Balāghah:

ʿAlī and Zubayr said: "Indeed he was the companion in the cave and indeed we recognise his seniority, Rasūlullāh خالفتانية instructed him to perform the ṣalāh during his lifetime.¹

In Sharh Nahj al-Balāghah, this reference is mentioned in the following text:

When the illness increased, Rasūlullāh والمنظمة gave the command that Abū Bakr should lead the people in ṣalāh and Abū Bakr led the people for two days in salāh, then Rasūlullāh بالمنظمة passed away.¹

Subsequently, some scholars have mentioned that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr فقضة led seventeen ṣalāh and some say that he led twenty, by the instruction of Rasūlullāh عَالَمُتُوا وَمُوا لَهُ عَالَمُ اللَّهُ وَالْمُعْلِينَةُ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينِينَا وَالْمُعْلِينِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِيلِيْكِ وَلِي وَالْمِعْلِيلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِينِ وَالْمُعْلِيلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِيلِينِ وَالْمِعْلِيلِيلِيلِي وَلِي وَالْمِعْلِيلِي وَلَمْلِيلِيلِيلِي وَلَمْلِيلِيلِي وَلِي وَلِيلِيلِي وَلِمْلِيلِيلِي وَلِمْلِيل

Zuhrī narrates from Abū Bakr ibn Abī Sabrah that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr led seventeen şalāh and according to some, he led twenty şalāh.²

The objective of this is that ṣalāh, which is the most important and greatest form of worship in Islam, Rasūlullāh مُنْسَعُتُهُ chose Sayyidunā Abū Bakr منافعة and put him forward (to lead the Muslims during his lifetime).

Statement of Shaykh al-Ash'arī

On this occasion, there is an excellent text of Shaykh Abū al-Ḥasan al-Ashʿarī شَلْعَة, which Ibn Kathīr خَالَة has mentioned in his work al-Bidāyah wa al-Nihāyah vol. 5 p. 236:

وقال تقديمه له دليل على انه اعلم الصحابة واقرؤهم لما ثبت في الخبر المتفق على صحته بين العلماء ان رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم قال يوم القوم اقرؤهم لكتاب الله فان كانوا في القراه سواء فاعلمهم بالسنة فان كانوا في السن سواء فاقدمهم اسلاما قلت وهذا من كلام الاشعري رحمه الله مما ينبغي ان يكتب بماء الذهب ثم قد اجتمعت هذا الصفات كلها في الصديق رضي الله عنه وارضاه

Putting Sayyidunā Abū Bakr forward in the matter of religion (establishment of ṣalāh) is proof that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr was the most knowledgeable amongst the Ṣaḥābah in, and he was the greatest Qārī among them.

It is based on the narration – whose authenticity the scholars agree upon – that Rasūlullāh said: "The one who is the greatest Qārī of the Book of Allah should lead, if those present are equal in this standard, then the one who has the most knowledge of the sunnah, if those present are equal in this standard, then the one who is the eldest should lead, if those present are equal in this standard, then the one who is the oldest in Islam should lead."

Ibn Kathīr was says that these words of al-Ashʿarī was are worthy of being written in gold. All these qualities collectively were found in Sayyidunā Abū Bakr was, may Allah be pleased with him and may Allah keep him pleased.

Every quality discussed above was found to a perfect degree in Sayyidunā Abū Bakr . It is for this reason that he was declared worthy of this position and he had the honour of leading the ummah in ṣalāh. This was what indicated to the khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and we find proof herein of him being the deputy of Rasūlullāh . It was accepted without any difference by the senior luminaries of the ummah.

Narration of Sayyidunā Abū Masʿūd al-Anṣārī

There is another famous Muḥaddith, Abū ʿAwānah, who transmits the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Masʿūd Anṣārī Lin the light of this ḥadīth, it is proven that the khalīfah and deputy of Rasūlullāh نَا نَا اللهُ الل

The ḥadīth mentioned by Sayyidunā Abū Masʿūd Anṣārī 🏎: "No one should lead the territory of someone else (except with his permission)" points out that Sayyidunā Abū Bakr فقيقة became the khalīfah after Rasūlullāh مَالِسُتَا فَعَالَى . This is because during the era of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُتَا فِي مَاللهُ عَلَيْهِ وَمِنْ اللهُ اللهُ وَمِنْ اللهُ وَنْ اللهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ الللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ الللّهُ وَمِنْ الللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّهُ وَمِنْ اللّ

Research of Shāh Walī Allāh

Just as the senior scholars substantiated from the appointment of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr to lead the ṣalāh, by Rasūlullāh during his final illness, Shāh Walī Allāh Muḥaddith Dehlawī also indicated this in the following text of his book, Qurrat al-Aynayn:

During the final illness, Rasūlullāh appointed Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq to lead the ṣalāh and Rasūlullāh refused to let anyone else lead the ṣalāh. This is proven from Mutawātir narrations. Then, the jurists amongst the Ṣaḥābah is like Sayyidunā 'Umar and Sayyidunā 'Alī came to the conclusion regarding Sayyidunā Abū Bakr being the khalīfah from his being appointed to the position of Imām in ṣalāh, and the rest of the Ṣaḥābah adopted silence and accepted.²

So, in this way, this matter was agreed upon and the indication of this incident becomes resolute and definite.

The summary of the discussion is that in the light of the above narrations, it has been clarified that during the last part of the era of nubuwwah, the leadership of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr in Ṣalāh is a clear indication to his khilāfah bilā faṣl. It is an excellent indication of the reasoning behind the incident of Qirṭās, and through it one will be guided correctly.

Removal of doubts

The incident of Qirṭās has provided those opposed to the Ṣaḥābah نوب , more so to Sayyidunā ʿUmar نوب , with ammunition to attack the noble Ṣaḥābah of Rasūlullāh مَالَمُنَا عَلَيْهُ اللهُ . The following texts are presented in order to remove them.

1. One objection is that during the final illness of Rasūlullāh مَالِسَنَامِهُ wanted to write an important document for the ummah, in the presence of which, the ummah will not go astray. However, according to some narrations, Sayyidunā 'Umar نقاقة said: "The Book of Allah is sufficient for us" and he prevented the document from being written. In this way, he refuted the sunnah of Rasūlullāh ما ما المعاقبة and he was disobedient to his Rasūl. The other Ṣaḥābah نقاقة with him are also equally guilty.

Answer

The precise details of what transpired in the incident of Qirṭās is not known, but whatever is mentioned in the general narrations, the following can be said in the light of it:

- The primary criticisms are directed towards Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Umar 'is, but in some of the narrations not even the name of Sayyidunā 'Umar is mentioned, and the words "the book of Allah is sufficient for us," is not reported to have been said, as is the case with the narration of Musnad Abū Ya'lā mentioned in the beginning of the discussion. In such a case, such criticisms have no basis.
- In some narrations where it is mentioned that Sayyidunā ʿUmar مَعْلَقَةُ said these words, then the objective was to consider the health of Rasūlullāh نَاسَعُهُ نَا in his final illness.

The scholars have written:

'Umar's purpose behind his statements was to ease matters for Rasūlullāh when he saw that he had been overcome with pain.

Moreover, the statement of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'the Book of Allah is sufficient for us," was not incorrect. In fact, his intention was to turn the attention of those present to the verse, "this day I perfected for you your religion," i.e. the religion has been completed and there is no form of deficiency in it and the Book of Allah is protected for us and sufficient for us. Assuming that Rasūlullāh خاصته did not dictate anything, then there is no problem. If it was something important, then we do not need to hurry. After some relief came to Rasūlullāh خاصته بالمعاقبة والمعاقبة والمع

Assuming that the above mentioned words of Sayyidunā ʿUmar نَاسَعُنهُ were wrong on the occasion and they were sinful, then Rasūlullāh would never have remained silent. He would have rejected them because the Nabī مَا السَّعَيْنَةُ will never remain silent on some wrong or sin, but he will refute it.

From this we learn that the above mentioned words of Sayyidunā 'Umar were not sinful, nor were they based on stubbornness or corruption, but it was in accordance to the demand of the time.

• Also, we cannot take the meaning from the sentence of Sayyidunā ʿUmar نقطَيْقَة, "the book of Allah is sufficient for us," to mean that only the book of Allah is sufficient for us, so there is no need for the sunnah of Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ اللهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلِيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ

حَسْبُنَا اللهُ وَ نِعْمَ الْوَكِيْلِ

Allah is sufficient for us and He is the best helper.

cannot be taken to mean that Allah is sufficient for us and we have no need for the risālat and nubuwwah of Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِا للهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلِيهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلِيهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلِي عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْه

In short, to negate the sunnah from the statement "the book of Allah is sufficient for us," is incorrect. This would be attributing such words to the speaker which he would never condone.

• Rasūlullāh 如此 instructed all those present to bring ink and paper, Sayyidunā 'Alī 如此 also among them, yet he also did not bring the pen and paper. Therefore, if there is any criticism directed towards 'Umar 如此 then this will apply to all the Ṣaḥābah 如此 including Sayyidunā 'Alī 如此 instructed him to bring a paper so that he can write, and through this, the ummah will not fall into deviation after Rasūlullāh 如此 :

Sayyidunā ʿAlī an narrates: "Nabī and commanded me to bring a paper in which something will be written and through it the ummah will not be deviated after him."

Subsequently, in this case, the responsibility for bringing the pen and paper was that of Sayyidunā 'Alī because he was given a direct and special command, whereas there was no separate command for Sayyidunā 'Umar because'.

In these circumstances, if the pen and paper was not presented, then the objection of disobedience will fall on all (we seek the protection of Allah).

• If Rasūlullāh المنافقة wished to dictate something compulsory, then from Thursday until the day of his demise, Rasūlullāh منافقة did not dictate it, nor did he dictate it to Sayyidunā 'Alī المنافقة or anyone else of the Ahl al-Bayt, whereas Sayyidunā 'Umar نقافة was not present all the time to prevent it being written. Shāh 'Abd al-'Azīz المنافة says:

Whereas Sayyidunā 'Umar was not present then to go against the bequest.'

These things are worthy to ponder over.

From this we learn that Rasūlullāh طَالِتُعَالِينَ did not wish to dictate something compulsory. If he did have that intention initially then he changed his mind and felt that there was no need to have it written.

In other words, we find agreement between the views of Rasūlullāh and Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Eijiji', and therefore Rasūlullāh aborted this action.

In this incident we find that the view of Sayyidunā ʿUmar was correct and that he possessed deep understanding of dīn. This was not opposition, but it was a sign of his religious foresight, understanding and wisdom. This incident can be counted as part of the <code>Muwāfaqāt</code> 'Umar', but the opposition have turned it around, giving it a different colour.

2. There is another objection from the opposition at this point that some Ṣaḥābah مُعْنَفَقِينَ and Sayyidunā 'Umar عَنَفَقِينَ attributed delirium to Rasūlullāh مَعْنَفَقَانَ and said:

² Muwāfaqāt 'Umar refers to those instances where the opinion of Sayyidunā 'Umar supported by divine decree.

To which they say: "This is insolence of this highest degree with regards to Rasūlullāh مَاسَعَتُهُ , which they are guilty of. This is because the meaning of delirium is that a person utters incoherent speech on account of his mind being unstable."

- Firstly, it must be known that the above mentioned words are not found in some of the narrations. The narrations in which they are found, it is mentioned with the plural form, i.e. they said. Those present in the gathering said, and not that one particular individual said this. Therefore, in terms of these narrations, the one who uttered this was not a single person, but there were a number of people who said these words. Therefore, to attribute these words only to Sayyidunā 'Umar is unfounded and futile.
- The scholars of ḥadīth have commented on those narrations which contain these words that the meaning of 'عجر عجر'is 'separation' and here the Ṣaḥābah مالشنائية were addressing each other asking: 'Is Rasūlullāh مالشنائية were addressing each other asking: 'Is Rasūlullāh مالسنانية المعارضة المعار
- Another meaning of 'هجر يهجر' is mentioned in the dictionary, which is the occurrence of delirium on account of severe illness. However, it is forbidden to attribute delirium to Rasūlullāh مَا فَاللّهُ عَلَيْهُ based on these narrations and it is far from the status of nubuwwah to do so. This is because Rasūlullāh مَا سَاللّهُ عَلَيْهُ وَسَالًا was ma'sūm (infallible) and protected from such occurrences during health and sickness.

Ibn Ḥajr ข้าใช้อง clarifies in al-Fatḥ al-Bārī:

It is impossible for Rasūlullāh for Rasūlullāh to experience this, because he is ma'sūm during health and sickness, since Allah Ta'ālā says: "He does not speak of his desire."

• The scholars have written regarding those narrations where these words are mentioned, that whoever said:

اَهَجَرَ اسْتَفْهَمُوْهُ

said this as a rhetorical question. In other words this was not said to attribute delirium but to deny it, and was uttered by those who were in favour of having the document written. They objected to the hesitance of their companions and said that Rasūlullāh معاقبة was not experiencing delirium, and the paper should be brought in accordance with the instructions of Rasūlullāh.

This makes it clear that whoever said this was not Sayyidunā 'Umar because he was not in favour of having the document written at that time.

Assuming that the attribution of delirium was implied, then on account of the word الْسَتُعُهُمُونُ (ask him), the text will be disjointed, and meaningless. Since questioning a person whom you perceive to be experiencing delirium is futile. Thus, it was never intended to be literal but was asked rhetorically.

'Allāmah al-Kirmānī هُمُنُكُ quotes Imām al-Nawāwī هُمُنُكُ in his commentary of Bukhārī:

قال النواوي رحمته الله عليه هو (اهجر) بهمزه الاستفهام الانكاري اى انكروا على من قال لا تكتبوا اى لا تجعلوا امره كامر من هذا في كلامه ...او هو من الهجر ضد الوصل اى هجر من الدنيا واطلق بلفظ الماضى لما رواه فيه من علامات الهجر من دار الفناء

Imām al-Nawāwī معرف says that the word 'اهجر' contains the letter hamza (۱) which is used to indicate a rhetorical question for negation. In other words, it was to negate those Ṣaḥābah معلان who were not in favour of having the document written, that 'do not make the matter of Rasūlullāh معلان المنافقة على المنافقة

Alternatively, this word 'مجر' means separation, the opposite of connecting, i.e. the questioner asked is Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ الله

The word (مجر) is used in the past tense (to denote certainty) because the signs of departure from this temporary world were clearly evident.

Summary

Firstly, this word (| large) is not found in all versions of the narration but in some only. Then, wherever this word is mentioned, is mentioned in plural form and not singular, implying that it was a statement made by a few people.

Moreover, the scholars of hadīth have explained its meaning to be separation. If the meaning of delirium is taken then it will not consolidate with the intended purpose of their statement and in fact, by taking this meaning, the entire text of the narration will be disjointed.

The commentaries of Bukhārī, al-Fatḥ al-Bārī and Kirmānī etc., have mentioned the purport and subject matter of the narration, as was clarified earlier.

In short, it is incorrect to direct this allegation at Sayyidunā 'Umar to claim that he was the one who uttered these words.

3. The third objection raised by the critics is that the Ṣaḥābah مُنْسَفَّهُ showed no consideration for the honour of Rasūlullāh مَالَيْنَا in this gathering, and they disputed and argued, raised their voices and went against the command of Allah Taʿālā. They were thus responsible for perpetrating an impermissible act. It is for this reason that Rasūlullāh مَالَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنِ اللهُ عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا اللهُ عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا عَلَيْنَا عَلَي

In reply, the following is said:

In essence, it is not incorrect to voice ones difference of opinion. During the era of nubuwwah there were differences on a number of rulings, and when such differences occur it is a natural tendency — albeit unknowingly at times — for one to raise his voice. On this occasion too, this had happened. Voices were raised unintentionally, but it did not occur on purpose or with intention.

The Ṣaḥābah always adhered to the directives of the Qur'ān and the etiquettes required for the gathering of Rasūlullāh An Area few such incidents can be found supporting this. An incident of Sayyidunā 'Umar is reported in al-Muṣannaf of 'Abd al-Razzāq that one day Sayyidunā 'Umar is entered Masjid al-Nabawī, and at that time a person was speaking in a raised voice. Sayyidunā 'Umar is called him and asked: "Which tribe are you linked to?" He replied: "I am from the Banū Thaqīf." He then asked: "From which locality are you?" He said: "I am a resident of Ṭā'if." Sayyidunā 'Umar is then said to him:

If you were from our city (Madīnah), I would have punished you. The law is that no voice is raised in this Masjid al-Nabawī of ours.¹

There is another narration of the same purport in Bukhārī. The story of Sayyidunā Sā'ib ibn Yazīd is mentioned in the following text:

Sā'ib ibn Yazīd says: "One day I was standing in Masjid al-Nabawī when a person threw pebbles in my direction. I turned to him and it was Sayyidunā 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb says. He instructed me: 'Go and call those two people before me.' And I brought them to him. He then asked them: 'From where are you?' They replied: 'We are of the people of Ta'if.' He said: 'If you were from the people of this city, I would have punished you, you are raising your voices in the Masjid of Rasūlullāh .'"1

From the above incidents it is clear that Sayyidunā 'Umar www would not raise his own voice in Masjid al-Nabawī and he would stop others from raising their voices too.

In light of this, it is proven that the Ṣaḥābah would always adhere to the etiquettes of the gathering of Rasūlullāh Therefore, during the incident of Qirṭās, the Ṣaḥābah who were present did not discard any etiquette and they did not intentionally utter anything contrary to the normal decorum.

The meaning of those narrations that speak about voices being raised is that this was an act of impulse, and at times a person tends to raise his vice without realising. However, it was not his intention to do so.

To this explanation the critics say: why did Rasūlullāh ﷺ then say: "Leave my presence"? In reply to this, it needs to be kept in mind that these words "Leave my presence', were not directed by Rasūlullāh ﷺ to a specific person, but was to all those present, and in essence was a command to end the difference of opinion by commanding them to leave and abandoning this discussion.

The reasoning behind this is that we find the words "leave my presence," being used as such in hadīth:

Rasūlullāh said: "Recite the Qur'ān as long as your heart is firm and attached to it and when you tire, then leave it."

² Bukhārī vol. 2 p. 295

Here, the words "قوموا عنه" (which literally means leave its presence) are used. The meaning is that an action or speech should be left out. In a similar manner, the statement "leave my presence," will also mean 'leave out this difference'.

Moreover, there is another verification of this meaning; namely that in some of the narrations the words "leave me," are found instead, and the purport and understanding of leaving out is clearly understood from here.

So, through these proofs, the purport of 'leave my presence,' has been established and it is clear that its meaning is not that they should get up and leave, but rather 'leave it'. This is the correct meaning.

Conclusion

In the light of the above, the objection no longer has any relevance and Ṣaḥābah فَاللَّهُ were not disrespectful towards Rasūlullāh مَا عَلَيْهُ at all and the Ṣaḥābah فَاللَّهُ were never disobedient to Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلِي عَلَيْهُ عَلِي عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلِيْهُ عَلِيهُ عَ

Final word

Effort has been made in the previous pages to answer the allegations against the Ṣaḥābah ﷺ with regards to the incident of Qirṭās. We have clarified that the Ṣaḥābah ﷺ, especially Sayyidunā ʿUmar ﷺ never disobeyed Rasūlullāh ﷺ. Furthermore, this incident does not refer to the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿAlī ﷺ. If Rasūlullāh ﷺ had intended to appoint his successor or appoint a leader for the ummah after him, then he ﷺ confirmed this for Sayyidunā Abū Bakr ﷺ by his actions and word. The directive of Rasūlullāh ﷺ was fulfilled, and the Ṣaḥābah ﷺ obeyed completely in this regard; accepting the leadership and khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr

Conclusion of the discussion, on a critical basis

A number of critical points on the narration of Qirṭās will be mentioned below. The scholars will pay attention to them and those of foresight will ponder over them, which will prove helpful in solving the matter and will be beneficial in removing any doubt, Allah willing.

All of the narrations quoted by the opposition in this regard are narrated by Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abbās 'www, who was very young at the time. He was about 13, 14 years old and was counted as young compared to the senior Ṣaḥābah 'www.

Despite this, the narrations of the senior Ṣaḥābah such as that of Sayyidunā ʿAlī ʿaus, Sayyidunā Jābir ibn ʿAbd Allāh ʿaus, Sayyidunā ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Bakr ʿaus, Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah ʿaus, contain nothing to support such allegations, and generally, no objections are raised on these narrations. Assuming there is something objectionable; even then, it is very weak.

However, when one casts a cursory glance at the narration of the incident of Qirṭās, narrated by Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās , then the terms used by the narrators create strange confusion and throw the general reader into bewilderment. In certain places, the narrator says something and in another place, he says something else. Subsequently, we mention a few aspects below:

- 1. In certain narrations, it is mentioned that Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās cried in abundance, whereas this is not found in other narrations. In fact, other narrations do not even mention crying.
- 2. In certain narrations, the name of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Sissis found among those that had a different view as compared to Sayyidunā Ibn 'Abbās 'Abbās' and the words 'the book of Allah is sufficient for us' are narrated from him, whereas this is not mentioned in other places.

- 3. In some narrations from Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās ﴿ لَهُ جَرِّهُ , the words, (اهبر، يهجر) are found to have been uttered by some of those present, whereas other narrations this is not mentioned.
- 4. In certain narrations of Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās مَالِمُنْكُونَةُ Rasūlullāh أَنْ اللهُ ا
- 5. In certain narrations from Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās ﷺ, the words "Indeed the calamity is a total calamity," are found, whereas in other narrations there is no mention of any calamity and this aspect was not referred to as such.

The variant wordings of the narrations of Ibn 'Abbās and the contradictions in the text is something to ponder over. Moreover, although it is a general practice to narrate in meaning, to what extent can it be correct to have such great differences in wording that cause a change in the objective and purport? The incident in these narrations is the same and the narrator is the same.

There is no mention of the objectionable aspects in the narrations of the blessed wives and the other senior companions that were present, as compared to the narrations from Ibn 'Abbās . In fact, in their (the blessed wives and the other senior companions that were present) narrations, the entire subject matter of the narration of Ibn 'Abbās is not found, nor is there any support for it.

The narrations of the above mentioned companions are in the books and we have quoted some of them at various places, but the subject matter worthy of criticism and the purport worthy of objection is not found in them, as is found in the narration of Ibn ʿAbbās ...

By looking at all these aspects, we learn that Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās arrated the original incident of Qirṭās and he mentioned the circumstances of the time, as in the narration of Musnad Abū Yaʿlā. We have explained this in the beginning of the discussion on the incident of Qirṭās.

However, the narrators later on transmitted it with a great amount of change, which was then reported from them. Sometimes an explanation was given and on other occasions, objectionable things were added. In this way, we find an addition of objectionable things attributed to the narrators in the original incident.

In short, by looking justly at the incident of Qirṭās, it is proven that based on the variant terms of the people, objectionable things are found to be part of the narration, otherwise there is nothing objectionable in the original incident.

Accusation of Doubt in His Verification of Iman

There is an objection from the Shīʿah directed at Sayyidunā ʿUmar that is linked to the treaty of Ḥudaybiyyah. During the treaty of Ḥudaybiyyah (6 A.H) Rasūlullāh had signed a treaty with the disbelievers of Makkah, and the conditions of the treaty seemed to weaken the Muslims and strengthen the disbelievers. This worried the Ṣaḥābah , and Sayyidunā ʿUmar became especially concerned. Subsequently — as reported in certain narrations — Sayyidunā ʿUmar said:

By Allah, from the day I embraced Islam I never doubted except today.

The critics of the Ṣaḥābah have tried to prove by this that Sayyidunā 'Umar had a doubt in nubuwwah, which is a sign of weak īmān and more so a sign of hypocrisy.

Furthermore, in a journal called $Y\bar{a}d$ -e $F\bar{a}r\bar{u}q$, the $Sh\bar{i}$ ah mention this accusation under the title, 'the verification of \bar{i} man by \bar{i} Hadrat \bar{i} Far \bar{u} q'. In this, they attempt to prove that his \bar{i} man was doubtful.

Answer

The treaty of \underline{H} udaybiyyah took place in 6 A.H. The authentic narrations regarding the treaty of \underline{H} udaybiyyah can be studied in the following works:

- 1. Bukhārī vol. 1, Chapter on the conditions of jihād
- 2. Muslim vol. 2, Chapter on the treaty of Ḥudaybiyyah

The incident can also be found in the other books of ḥadīth and sīrah.

In the above narrations of $Bukh\bar{a}r\bar{\imath}$ and Muslim, the concern and worry of Sayyidun \bar{a}

'Umar is mentioned without the words "By Allah, from the day I embraced Islam I never doubted except today".

On this occasion, the worry and concern of Sayyidunā ʿUmar was on account of his support for dīn and consideration of the Muslims, because the conditions of the treaty between the two parties (the Muslims and the disbelievers of Makkah) seemingly favoured the disbelievers. In light of such conditions, the concern and worry of Sayyidunā ʿUmar was only natural. However, Sayyidunā ʿUmar ever had doubt regarding Islam or nubuwwah, as we shall explain in the following lines. The scholars of ḥadīth have mentioned this under the commentary of these narrations. See al-Fatḥ al-Bārī vol. 5 p. 265, chapter on the conditions in jihād and treaties with those at war.

In short, Allah Taʿālā was aware that this treaty would prove to be expedient and beneficial for the Muslims in terms of the end result, but to the believers this was hidden and it apparently seemed to be detrimental to Islam. Looking at these apparent conditions, the worry and concern that arose from Sayyidunā ʿUmar was rather a sign of complete īmān. However, those opposed to the Ṣaḥābah classify this as a sign of weak or loss of īmān, how astonishing.

Proof and Supporting Narrations

The proof and supporting narrations for the worry and concern of Sayyidunā 'Umar are:

Firstly, when Sayyidunā 'Umar 'www went to Sayyidunā Abū Bakr 'www in this state of worry and stated his concerns. Sayyidunā Abū Bakr 'www answered: "Indeed I testify that he is the Rasūl of Allah." In response, Sayyidunā 'Umar 'www said the same thing, "Indeed I testify that he is the Rasūl of Allah."

This means that Sayyidunā ʿUmar apprehension was regarding the conditions of the treaty, as he could not understand why Rasūlullāh accepted such subjugating conditions. Sayyidunā ʿUmar additions doubted the consequences of this treaty, whether they would be beneficial or harmful, but he never doubted in the risālat and nubuwwah of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا اللهِ . This is why he verified the risālat and nubuwwah of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا اللهِ , as mentioned above.

Secondly, it is reported that once the treaty was drawn up, then from amongst the Muslims, Sayyidunā Abū Bakr, Sayyidunā 'Umar, Sayyidunā 'Alī and Sayyidunā 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn 'Awf signed as witnesses. Mukriz and Suhayl signed on behalf of the disbelievers. The scribe was Sayyidunā 'Alī signed on their complete īmān and showed their strength in religion. Someone whose īmān is doubted is not made a witness.¹

Answer to the narration

The narration in which these objectionable words are found, "By Allah, from the day I embraced Islam I never doubted except today," is reported by Ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī (d. 310 A.H) in his Tafsīr vol. 26 under Sūrah al-Fatḥ with a chain of narration. There is a narrator in this chain by the name of Ibn Shihāb al-Zuhrī. The narration also repeatedly states: "Al-Zuhrī said". These words are the statements of al-Zuhrī and have been added by al-Zuhrī (termed as Idrāj²), and they are not found in the original narration. In fact, they are added by al-Zuhrī from his side.

There is an example of this action of al-Zuhrī, for example he also added words (made idrāj) in the narration dealing with the request for Fadak:

² Idrāj: When the commentary or observation of a narrator is transmitted as part of the original narration.

Al-Zuhrī said: "Fāṭimah left him and did not speak to him until she passed away."

The above words were added into the narration by al-Zuhrī (as we have mentioned in Ruhamā' Baynahum, the Siddīqī section p. 125 to p. 138)

In short, the actual words which are the basis of this allegation are not present in the original narration, but were added by the narrator. In other words, this was the thought of the narrator. The principle in this regard is that the added portions, or afterthoughts of the narrator, are not proof upon others.

It must also be known that the Mufassirīn who came after Ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī al-Ṭabarī and narrated this incident, have included these words in the narration as well. The reason being that they generally narrate from al-Ṭabarī has mentioned a number of narrations on this occasion in his Tafsīr and he finally writes:

'Abd Razzāq narrates from Ma'mar and Ma'mar from al-Zuhrī in this way, and there are many things in this narration that contradict other narrations and there are inconsistencies in it, and it contradicts the well-known narrations.

We have spoken about the addition of the narrator before this. Thus the end results of both are the same.

The conclusion is that such objectionable things are found in the rare narrations and the narrations wherein additions were made by the narrator. Those opposed to the Ṣaḥābah was use these narrations as a basis for criticism against the Ṣaḥābah was, whereas there is nothing objectionable in the authentic narrations.

Lastly, that which holds more weight than the supporting narrations is that in

His noble word, Allah verifies and establishes the īmān and Islam of the Ṣaḥābah in a number of verses and Sayyidunā 'Umar is is also among these Ṣaḥābah is, for example:

Certainly Allah was well pleased with the believers when they pledged allegiance to you (O Muḥammad), under the tree, and He knew what was in their hearts, so He sent down tranquility upon them and rewarded them with an imminent conquest.

(Allah) Imposed upon them the word of righteousness, and they were more deserving of it and worthy of it.

Therefore, in the presence of the noble verses of the Qur'ān, there is no room for anyone to object or create doubt regarding the īmān and Islam of any of the Ṣaḥābah Appelia, especially Sayyidunā 'Umar Appelia, If a person harbours enmity in his heart for him, then there is no treatment for this; this is an incurable disease. And Allah is the guide.

Answer to an Objectionable Narration

In some ḥadīth narrations, there is an incident mentioned that in the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Jumar', there was a difference of opinion that arose between Sayyidunā 'Abbās 'Jumar' and Sayyidunā 'Alī 'Jumar' regarding the distribution of the fay' and the wealth of the Banū Naḍīr, and this matter was presented to Sayyidunā 'Umar' and Sayyidunā 'Abbās' and Sayyidunā 'Alī 'Jumar' was that whatever share they were to be given from the wealth, the land portions should be divided for them in exactly the same way, this should be given to them to administer separately.

Subsequently, in Sharḥ al-Sunnah of al-Baghawī 🏭 , the following text is found:

They came to Sayyidunā 'Umar regarding a dispute in the opinions they had regarding the guardianship and care; each one of them saw himself as sole guardian.¹

Similarly, in $J\bar{a}mi^{\circ}al$ - $U\bar{s}\bar{u}l$ vol. 3, the following is written in the footnotes regarding this matter:

Indeed the request of 'Alī and 'Abbās was a request to handle the affairs over it and that it be distributed amongst them as mentioned before.

Regarding this issue, Sayyidunā ʿUmar ʾaʾaʾaʾaʾa did not divide the land between the two parties, so that no doubt would arise amongst those who would come later; with regards to distributing the inheritance of Rasūlullāh aʾaʾaʾaʾaʾaʾa.

Regarding this issue, both parties explained their side to Sayyidunā 'Umar and there was severity found in their speech.

Some narrations of this particular occasion state that Sayyidunā 'Abbās www. used the following harsh words for Sayyidunā 'Alī www., and Sayyidunā 'Umar said:

You thought about Abū Bakr as well as I that we are liars, sinful, treacherous and dishonest, whereas Allah knows that we are truthful, just and following the truth.

In some narrations, the words, 'oppressor' and 'sinner' are narrated. Subsequently, in these narrations, looking at the harsh nature of these words, some have raised the objection that Abū Bakr and 'Umar had these qualities and they attested to them. Therefore, it is no defect to mention these senior Ṣaḥābah with these qualities because they attested to this for themselves.

The same subject matter of this objection is found in the following books:

- 1. Fulk al-Najāt vol. 1 p. 390,
- 2. Ā'inah Madh-hab Sunnī p. 143, 144

Answer

It is the occupation of some that wherever they find anything in the hadīth seemingly against the Ṣaḥābah , even though it may be a little, they give great importance to it and blow it up out of proportion. They give it the colour of an objection and they spread it far and wide. In this incident, which stemmed from a disagreement between Sayyidunā 'Alī and Sayyidunā 'Abbās and Sayyidunā 'Abbās and Sayyidunā 'Abbās and Sayyidunā 'Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar and Sayy disagreement regarding the wealth of Banū Naḍīr etc., and the harsh words used against each other on that occasion are correct, the manner in which it has been understood is far from sound understanding and intelligence.

It is not uncommon for a person to use harsh words to refute the view of the opposite party. In this case however, some of the narrators when narrating this incident did so loosely (and not verbatim), adding in a few more harsh words that were not actually mentioned. These harsh words were not uttered in the original incident and there are supporting narrations to prove this.

Proof and Supporting Narrations

Many Muḥaddithīn have mentioned this incident in their works with a chain of narration. However, these harsh words (sinner, treacherous, and oppressor) are not found at all in their narrations. For example:

- 1. Musnad Imām Aḥmad vol. 1 p. 208
- 2. Musnad Imām Aḥmad vol. 1 p. 60
- 3. Bukhārī vol. 1 p. 435, 436
- 4. Bukhārī vol. 2 p. 992
- 5. Al-Sunan, Abū Dāwūd vol. 2 p. 55, 56
- 6. Tirmidhī p. 250
- 7. Shamā'il Jāmiʿ al-Tirmidhī p. 601
- 8. Al-Sunan al-Kubrā vol. 4 p. 65-68
- 9. Ibid vol. 6 p. 229-298

In all the above references, the senior Muḥaddithīn have mentioned the mutual disagreement but the harsh debated words are not mentioned at all. This is a separate proof that these words are additions by the narrators. Imām Nawāwī in Sharḥ Muslim mentions this reason from al-Māzarī, it is also worthy of mentioning that some narrations contain the following words "Like this and like that", when describing the comments exchanged.

The commentators of hadīth have clarified, regarding this:

ان العباس رضي الله عنه وعليا رضي الله عنه جاء الى عمر رضي الله عنه يختصمان يقول كل منهما لصاحبه انت كذا وكذا ، ليس كنايته عن سب احدهما الاخر كما وهم بل المراد انت لا تستحق الولاية على هذه الصدقة ونحو نالك ما يذكم المخاصم في رد حجه خصمه من غير شتم ولا سب

'Abbās and 'Alī was came to 'Umar was with a mutual disagreement, when each party was saying to the other 'you are like this and this'. These words did not indicate swearing and speaking ill of each other (as some people think).

However, these words mean that one group was telling the other that you are not worthy of handling this particular wealth etc. Just as a person who is arguing, refutes the proof of the opposite party harshly, without swearing. This means that the narrations of this particular incident, wherever the words, 'like this and this' are found, it does not refer to the common lewd talk or vulgar language, but it refers to harsh words that are used during a mutual disagreement. The summary is that the harsh words which the critics have used as a basis for objection, they are not present in the original incident, nor is it reported that they were used, but they are words added by the narrator. We have mentioned the reasons and supporting narrations for this above and it is not correct to level objections based on words added by the narrator. Added words cannot be a proof against others, and it is not necessary to accept it.

The reality is that the senior Ṣaḥābah did not have these qualities (liar, sinner, oppressor, etc.) These contradict the good character, taqwā, high standing and religiousness of these luminaries. The verses of the Qur'ān and authentic aḥādīth bear testimony to this. Therefore, it is out of place for the critics to level such objections which are baseless.

Note: - We have clarified the disagreement mentioned in the narration above in our work Ruḥamā' Baynahum part 1 p. 95-96 with footnotes. However, the narration with harsh words was not mentioned there, nor was the reply given.

Now it has, by the grace of Allah, as a reply to one of the accusations raised in this regard, and if one were to analyse matters justly then the objection is swiftly removed. However, there is no cure for the one who refuses to accept.

If it Were Not For 'Alī, 'Umar Would Have Been Destroyed

The critics of the Ṣaḥābah ﷺ accuse Sayyidunā 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ﷺ of not being a scholar of sharī'ah, and that he possessed lesser knowledge than others. Whenever they would convene to decide a matter then Sayyidunā 'Alī www would counter his wrong decisions. Upon this, Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Umar' would say:

If it was not for 'Alī then 'Umar www would have been destroyed.1

The purpose of this objection is to prove that Sayyidunā ʿUmar ʿʿUmar ʿ was ignorant of shar ʿī rulings, which is an essential requirement of imāmah and khilāfah. Since he was ignorant of these rulings, he was not worthy of the khilāfah.

Answer

We shall present a number of aspects in order to remove this doubt. Pay close attention to them, and the doubt will be removed.

1. The qualities required by the khalīfah are justice, piety, taqwā, knowledge of dīn and its sharʿī rulings. In addition, he should have the ability to execute administrative commands and execute the laws of the sharī ah. It is not a condition that the khalīfah must be acquainted with every single sharʿī ruling and that nothing should be hidden from his knowledge.

There are reasons and supporting evidence for this not being a condition. Amongst them are the narrations regarding Sayyidunā ʿAlī , who is accepted by both groups as a just khalīfah and one who is aware of the sciences of the sharīʿah, wherein it is found that he erred in certain rulings.

^{1 &#}x27;Ā'inah Madh-hab Sunnī, p. 153

On other occasions, he clearly stated that he does not have knowledge of that particular ruling. For example, it is narrated:

ان عليا حرق قوما ارتدوا عن الاسلام فبلغ ذالك ابن عباس فقال لو كنت انا لقتلتهم بقول رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم عليه وسلم من بدل دينه فاقتلوه ولم اكن لا حرقهم لان رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم قال لا تعذبوا بعذاب الله فبلغ ذالك عليا فقال صدق ابن عباس . هذا حديث حسن صحيح

Sayyidunā ʿAlī www burnt a group who reneged from Islam. When Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās www came to know of this, he said: "If I had to punish them, I would have executed them because the ḥadīth of Rasūlullāh would have changes his religion should be executed. (However) I would not have burnt them because Rasūlullāh would not have burnt them because Rasūlullāh was said: "Do not issue the punishment of Allah." When Sayyidunā ʿAlī www was informed of this, he said: "Ibn ʿAbbās has spoken the truth."

2. Sometimes, it happened in this way that a person enquired a ruling from Sayyidunā 'Alī and Sayyidunā 'Alī gave the answer. The person said that the ruling was not as stated, but it was different. Upon hearing the answer, Sayyidunā 'Alī said:

You have spoken correctly and I have erred. Above every person of knowledge there is someone greater in knowledge.

In Kanz al-'Ummāl it is mentioned:

Muḥammad ibn Kaʿb narrates: "A man enquired a ruling from ʿAlī and he gave the answer. The man said: "It is not like this, but like this." ʿAlī said: "You are correct and I have erred, and above every person of knowledge, there is someone greater in knowledge." ²

² Kanz al-'Ummāl vol. 5 p. 241

Similarly, there are a number of incidents of this type regarding Sayyidunā 'Alī $\stackrel{\text{\tiny Log}}{\text{\tiny Alog}}$. We have mentioned only two incidents here that support the original stance.

3. In Nahj al-Balāghah, Sayyidunā ʿAlī ﴿ عَلَيْكُ attests:

I am not above error and I am not without fear regarding error in my deed, except that Allah will suffice me, who is more powerful than me.¹

It is proven from the above that it is not a defect or fault if a person expresses his lack of knowledge in a certain matter, or for an error to occur, or for a person to abandon his stance and adopt the research of another. This is not an action worthy of criticism or rebuke, and has been the practice of the great luminaries of the ummah.

Note: - This subject matter is discussed in detail in my work, Ruḥamā' Baynahum Fārūqī Section p. 135 till p. 139. See the detail there.

In this regard there is a famous incident reported that Sayyidunā 'Umar issued a ruling of pelting for a woman that committed adultery. Sayyidunā 'Alī is learnt that this woman was pregnant. Sayyidunā 'Alī is then said to Sayyidunā 'Umar is 'Your ruling will apply to the woman, but your ruling cannot be applied to the child in her stomach." Sayyidunā 'Umar is accepted what he said and replied:

If it was not for 'Alī, 'Umar would have been destroyed.

This means that Sayyidunā 'Umar was not aware of the pregnancy of the woman and Sayyidunā 'Alī was aware. When he informed him of this,

Sayyidunā ʿUmar was saved from a major error and he said these words out of gratitude. In this way he showed his appreciation and lifted the spirits of Sayyidunā ʿAlī , as is the way of the senior luminaries.

The personality of Sayyidunā ʿUmar is extremely lofty and his just character is found to be at the perfect level, such that he expressed his gratitude when corrected by another Ṣaḥābī.

Another incident

We present to you another incident which illustrates the lofty character of Sayyidunā ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar · Lafita · La

عن ابي سفيان قال حدثني اشياخ منا قالوا: جاء رجل الى عمر بن الخطاب فقال يا امير المؤمنين! اني غبت عن امراتي سنتين فجئت وهي حبلى فنشاور عمر رضي الله عنه الناس في رجمها قال فقال معاذ بن جبل يا امير المؤمنين! ان كان لك عليها سبيل فليس لك على ما في بطنها سبيل فاتركها حتى تضع فتركها فولدت غلاما قد خرجت ثنياه فعرف الرجل الشبه فيه فقال ابني ورب الكعبة فقال عمر عجزت النساء ان يلدن مثل معاذ لولا معاذ لهلك عمر

A person came to 'Umar and said: "Amīr al-Mu'minīn, I remained absent from my wife for two years and when I came, she was pregnant." (Therefore, my wife deserves punishment). 'Umar consulted with the other Ṣaḥābah and, regarding stoning this woman, so Sayyidunā Muʿādh ibn Jabal said: "O Amīr al-Mu'minīn, you have the right to stone the woman but you do not have control over that which is in her belly. Therefore, put it off until birth."

'Umar would have been destroyed.''1

In summary, Sayyidunā 'Umar accepted the counsel of Sayyidunā Muʿādh and expressed his appreciation of him, which in turn lifted the spirits of Sayyidunā Muʿādh accepted, this is the way an accomplished and perfect person acts.

Summary

If they insist that Sayyidunā 'Umar was ignorant of shar'ī rulings, then similar incidents also occurred in the life of Sayyidunā 'Alī was. There are a number of such incidents narrated from Sayyidunā 'Alī in which he attested to not knowing something, as was explained previously.

Why only Sayyidunā 'Umar is made a target for such criticism? It is not mandatory for the khalīfah to be a scholar of every science and to be aware of every single matter.

The best course of action is that such objections should not be raised against the pioneers of Islam, and one should hold his tongue regarding them. The safety of one's īmān lies in this.

The Allegation Regarding Tarāwīḥ

The most important aspects of this issue:

- Three forms of Tarāwīh in the era of nubuwwah
- Replying the contradiction between the eleven rakaʿāt narration and twenty rakaʿāt narration.
- The subject matter of the narration of Ibn 'Abbās (has been accepted by the ummah.
- Removal of a doubt (regarding the young age of Ibn 'Abbās المنطقة).
- Tarāwīḥ during the era of the al-Khilāfah al-Rāshidah.
- The practise of Tarāwīḥ in the era of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr
- The communal practice of Tarāwīḥ during the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar ' Umar'.
- Support of the senior scholars for twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ (Ibn Taymiyyah and others).
- Removal of a doubt (that Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Employer') first began with eleven raka'āt and then increased it to twenty raka'āt later on).
- Tarāwīḥ in the era of Sayyidunā ʿUthmān ﴿ الْعَلَيْكَ اللَّهُ اللَّالِي اللَّهُ الللَّهُ اللَّهُ الللَّهُ الللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ ا
- $\bullet \quad \hbox{Participation of the women.} \$
- Tarāwīḥ in the era of Sayyidunā ʿAlī هُوَلِيَاكُيْ.
- Summary (during the era of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn, it was the continuous practice of twenty rakaʿāt for twenty-five years)
- Support for following the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidūn from the ḥadīth.
- The practice of the famous Ṣaḥābah (Ubay ibn Kaʿb, Ibn Masʿūd, Ibn ʿAbbās, Umm al-Mu'minīn ʿĀ'ishah ﴿﴿﴿ اللَّهُ اللَّاللَّ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ الللَّهُ اللَّهُ
- Statements of the Tābiʿīn, Tabaʿ al-Tābiʿīn and senior scholars.
- The practice of the Ummahāt al-Mu'minīn وَهُوَلِكُونَاهُونَهُ.
- Is Tarāwīḥ eight rakaʿāt?
- Summary of the discussion.

Introduction

The ruling of $Tar\bar{a}w\bar{n}h$ will be now explained, however before we begin explaining the related issues, we present a few questions to the readers which will underline which aspects need clarification.

- 1. Is it sunnah or bid'ah to perform twenty raka'āt Tarāwīḥ?
- 2. In the time of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn and the Ṣaḥābah was twenty raka'āt performed or not? What was the practice of the Ṣaḥābah in this regard?
- 3. In the first three eras, was there any reliable scholar of religion, muḥaddith or jurist of repute that classified twenty rakaʿāt as bidʿāh? Alternatively, did they criticise this continued practice or did they accept it willingly?

Now, all the related aspects of this issue will be discussed. Study it carefully, by paying close attention to this discussion, one will acquire contentment and the answers to these questions will also be found.

During the Era of Nubuwwah

It is clear to the people of knowledge that during the era of nubuwwah, there were a number of forms of Tarāwīḥ. During the era of Nubuwwah, after the fast of Ramaḍān was made obligatory in 2 A.H, Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ واللهُ واللهُ واللهُ اللهُ ا

He who stands in worship during Ramaḍān, with faith and hope of acquiring reward, his past sins will be forgiven.¹

First Form

This was the initial stage of standing in worship during Ramaḍān and it was practiced by way of being encouraged. As a result of this encouragement of Rasūlullāh would form separate groups and perform the Tarāwīḥ in various places and areas of Masjid al-Nabawī. A number of Muḥaddithīn have explained this in their works, with their chains of narration. For example:

Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah an arrates that one night during Ramaḍān, Rasūlullāh came out of his blessed room and saw that people were performing ṣalāh in various groups in various places of Masjid al-Nabawī. Rasūlullāh enquired: "What are these people doing?" It was said in reply: "These people do not know the entire Qur'ān by heart and Ubay ibn Ka'b is reciting. They are following him in ṣalāh." On this occasion, Rasūlullāh said: "These people have done correctly." Or he said: "They are good in what they have done."

Some narrations state:

"They have done good and are correct," and he did not dislike this action for them.1

In conclusion, it is appropriate to state here:

Firstly, the Sunnah is established verbally here, which is proven from the apparent words of the ḥadīth. If we were to overlook this and give it a lower status, then at the least it will have the status of being a sunnah by tacit approval, there is no doubt in this.

In essence, this was the first stage of Tarāwīḥ; during the era of Nubuwwah, it was performed in congregation in Masjid al-Nabawī and this action was done with the knowledge of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُتَعَالِينَا and it had the approval and status of being endorsed by Rasūlullāh.

Worthy of Note

It is not hidden from the people of knowledge that other narrations of this subject matter are narrated from the Ṣaḥābah and the Tābiʿīn. We shall mention a narration as further corroboration. As mentioned above, the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah is narrated in Ṣaḥīḥ Ibn Khuzaymah vol. 3, Ṣaḥīḥ Ibn Ḥibbān vol. 5 and Abū Dāwūd vol. 1. Abū Dāwūd is mentions the following with regards to the chain of narration:

This hadīth is not strong and the narrator Muslim ibn Khālid is weak.

¹ Şahīḥ Ibn Khuzaymah vol. 3 p. 339, Şaḥīḥ Ibn Ḥibbān vol. 5 p. 107, Abū Dāwūd vol. 1 p. 202

The scholars have mentioned a number of responses to this criticism. In light of their explanation, we shall mention a few points briefly.

The narrator in question, Muslim ibn Khālid al-Zanjī, although some of the scholars have criticised him and have stated that he is weak, despite this, other senior scholars have stated that he is reliable. Subsequently, regarding the reliability of this narrator, the views of a few scholars are mentioned, for example:

Yaḥyā ibn Maʿīn ﷺ writes in his history:

Muslim ibn Khālid is reliable and his ḥadīth is sound.1

Ibn Hibban هَمْ writes in his Kitab al-Thigat,

Muslim ibn Khālid would err sometimes.

However, together with this, he also classifies him as reliable:

He was of the jurists of Ḥijāz. ʿAbd Allāh ibn al-Mubārak narrates from him, and al-Shāfiʿī , al-Ḥumaydī and others. Al-Shāfiʿī learnt fiqh from him.²

² Kitāb al-Thiqāt vol. 7 p. 448

Ibn Ḥajar هَمْ اللَّهُ writes in Tahdhīb al-Tahdhīb:

Ibn 'Adī says that he reports good aḥādīth, he was the jurist of Makkah and he was of the jurists of Ḥijāz. Al-Sājī says that he is truthful; al-Dārquṭnī says that he is reliable.¹

In short, there is criticism found on Muslim ibn Khālid al-Zanjī al-Makkī. Despite this, the scholars have stated that he is reliable. We have presented this above. Looking at this, the narration cannot be rejected totally but it will be acceptable on account of his reliability.

Corroboration

It is appropriate to mention, as mentioned before, that a narration similar to the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah has been reported in al-Sunan al-Kubrā of Imām al-Bayhaqī has been reported in al-Bayhaqī for corroborates the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah

Therefore, on account of corroborating material being present this narration may be accepted and to discard it will be incorrect. The corroborating narration from al-Bayhaqī is mentioned below:

عن ثعلبة بن ابي مالك رضي الله عنه القرظي قال خرج رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ذات ليلة في رمضان فراى ناسا في ناحية المسجد يصلون فقال ما يصنع هؤلاء؟ قال قائل يا رسول الله! هؤلاء ناس ليس معهم القرآن وابي بن كعب يقراؤهم معه يصلون بصلته قال قد احسنوا وقد اصابوا ولم يكره ذالك لهم

Tha labah ibn Abī Mālik in arrates: "One night during Ramaḍān, Rasūlullāh came out of his house. He saw in the corner of the Masjid a few people performing salāh. Rasūlullāh in asked: "What are these people doing?" A person said: "Those who do not know the Qur'ān, they are performing ṣalāh behind Ubay ibn Ka'b." Rasūlullāh said: "They have done good and are correct." Rasūlullāh did not show dislike for their action.¹

Al-Nīmawī هَمُهُاللَّهُ has written in Āthār al-Sunan under this narration:

Al-Bayhaqī has narrated it and the chain of narration is excellent.

Al-Bayhaqī المَعْمُنَاتُ discusses this narration and writes in al-Sunan al-Kubrā:

Shaykh said: "This is mursal and hasan."

This means that on account of Tha'labah being a Tābiʿī and not a Ṣaḥābī, this narration is regarded as Mursal, but it has a grading of ḥasan and is not graded as ḍaʿīf.

The summary is that the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah ما على and Thaʻlabah are both narrated and it is proven from them that during the era of Rasūlullāh مالله على Tarāwīḥ used to be performed in congregation in Masjid al-Nabawī and Rasūlullāh مالله stated that this action is correct and did not prohibit it.

We learn that during Ramaḍān, performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation is proven from the era of nubuwwah and it is in accordance to the sunnah.

Second Form

The one form in which Tarāwīḥ would be performed during the era of nubuwwah has been clarified above. The second form is discussed in the narration that is transmitted by a number of Ṣaḥābah such as Sayyidunā Abū Dhar al-Ghifārī, Nuʿmān ibn Bashīr, and others .

عن ابي ذر رضي الله عنه قال صمنا مع النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم في رمضان فلم يقم بناحتي بقي سبع من الشهر فقال بناحتي ذهب ثلث الليل ثم لم يقم بنا في السادسة وقام بنا في الخامسة حتى ذهب شطر الليل فقلت يا رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم لو نفلنا بقية ليلتنا هذه؟ قال انه من قام مع الامام حتى ينصرف كتب له قيام ليلة ثم لم يصل بنا حتى بقى ثلاث من الشهر فقام بنا في الثالثة وجمع اهله ونساء

Sayyidunā Abū Dhar in narrates: "We kept the fast of Ramaḍān with Rasūlullāh in During this time, he did not stand in worship with us at night until seven days of the month were left (counting the month as 29). Then Rasūlullāh in performed ṣalāh for us until a third of the night. He did not come on the twenty-fourth night and he came again on the twenty-fifth night and performed ṣalāh until half the night passed. I asked: "O Rasūl of Allah, if we perform nafl ṣalāh the rest of the night?" Rasūlullāh in replied: "He who stands with the imām until he leaves the reward of standing the entire night will be recorded for him." Rasūlullāh in did not lead us in ṣalāh thereafter until three days were left. Rasūlullāh in the leaves the night and he gathered his family and performed ṣalāh until late, until we feared that we will miss the suhūr."

Narration of Nu man ibn Bashir

Similarly, Sayyidunā Nuʿmān ibn Bashīr هَنْشَاعَةُ narrates:

قمنا مع رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في شهر رمضان ليلة ثلاث وعشرين الى ثلث الليل ثم قمنا معه ليلة خمس وعشرين الى نصف الليل ثم قمنا ليلة سبع وعشرين حتى ظننا ان لن ندرك الفلاح وكذا نسيمه السحور

We stood with Rasūlullāh المنتفية during the month of Ramaḍān on the twenty-third night for a third of the night, then we stood with him on the twenty-fifth night till half the night passed, then we stood with him on the twenty-seventh night until we thought that we will miss the suḥūr.¹

The Ṣaḥābī, Nuʿmān ibn Bashīr sat on the pulpit of Ḥims and narrated this ḥadīth. This narration has the same meaning and purport of the narration of Sayyidunā Abū Dhar al-Ghifārī and corroborates it. The people of knowledge know that narrations with this subject matter are mentioned in the Ṣiḥāḥ Sittah, narrated by other Ṣaḥābah as well.

In these narrations, it is proven that Rasūlullāh performed Tarāwīḥ in congregation, although the number of rakaʿāt is not mentioned. However, it is proven from the sunnah that he used to lead the Tarāwīḥ ṣalāh during Ramaḍān in congregation and a sufficient amount of time used to pass and a significant portion of the night used to be spent.

The action of remaining awake at night for Tarāwīḥ during the nights of Ramaḍān continued. Then, sometimes, Rasūlullāh منافقة would not come to lead the ṣalāh, intentionally, whilst the Ṣaḥābah نواقة would request it. Despite this, he did not come. Then, in the morning, Rasūlullāh منافقة explained the wisdom of this:

Your request was not hidden from me, but I had the fear that the ṣalāh of the night of Ramaḍān should not become obligatory upon you, then you would not be able to perform it. 1

This means that Rasūlullāh المنافقة deliberately missed it, fearing that it may become obligatory. This was a great expediency upon the ummah and an act of compassion upon the ummah. Thus, he mentioned the reason for not being punctual upon its practice.

The summary is that this was the second form of performing Tarāwīḥ that was found in the era of nubuwwah.

Third Form

A third narration regarding Tarāwīḥ is presented here, narrated by Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abbās ﷺ:

Ibn ʿAbbās as narrates that Rasūlullāh seed to perform twenty rakaʿāt in Ramadān and witr.¹

Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās said: "Rasūlullāh used to perform twenty Rakaʿāt in Ramaḍān and he used to perform three witr." 2

In the light of this narration, it is proven that Rasūlullāh \vec{a} used to perform twenty rakaʻāt Tarāwīḥ.

This is the third form of Tarāwīḥ and there is proof for it in the era of nubuwwah. Now, refuting it will be a case of turning away from the truth.

This means that in the era of nubuwwah, these various forms of Tarāwīḥ used to be in practice. A number of points need clarification here:

- 1. This narration of Sayyidunā Ibn 'Abbās apparently seems to contradict the narration of Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah in which eleven raka'āt are mentioned. At the end of the discussion, there will be a separate topic where the apparent contradiction will be removed. Sufficient detail will be presented, which one can study.
- 2. There is a narrator by the name of Ibrāhīm ibn ʿUthmān Abū Shaybah in this narration, the scholars of ḥadīth have criticised him and said that he is weak. A number of points will now be mentioned in reply to the weakness of this narrator. Although the scholars of the science have stated that this narrator is da f, there are other reasons that make the narration worthy of acceptance and remove the weakness of this narration. In this way, the narration will be worthy of acceptance and it will not be discarded.

Clarification

1. This narration gains support by the fact that the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn and other senior Ṣaḥābah practised upon it. The fact that twenty raka'āt Tarāwīḥ was performed in that era is a sign that this narration is ṣaḥīḥ. We shall mention the practice of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn soon, Allah willing.

Subsequently, the scholars have written:

The punctual practice of the Ṣaḥābah $\not\approx \omega$ upon twenty rakaʿāt is a sign of validity of this narration.¹

- 2. Similarly, support for the validity Ibn 'Abbās's with narration is found in twenty raka'āt being the practice of the senior Tābi'īn and majority of the scholars of the ummah. Through a number of strong narrations, this particular narration is supported and gains strength.
- 3. Moreover, although the above narration of Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās ﷺ is Khabar al-Wāḥid, but the validity of this narration is established by the fact that the ummah has accepted it, and the subject that has been accepted by the ummah, practiced upon on and verified, then according to majority of the scholars, it gives the benefit of 'ilm yaqīn (definite knowledge), and it does not remain zannī (doubtful).

It is written in Sharh 'Aqīdah al-Tahāwiyyah fī 'Aqīdah al-Salafiyyah:

When the ummah accepts a Khabar al-Wāḥid, practising on it and verifying it, then it gives the benefit of 'ilm yaqīn according to majority of the ummah. This is one category of mutawātir and there is no debate about this amongst the pious predecessors of the ummah.¹

In light of this law, even the narration of Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās will not be discarded, but it is worthy of acceptance and the ummah has conviction that it is valid. Therefore, we will not consider its weakness and in light of the above it will be accepted.

Removal of a doubt

One may say that Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās is among the young Ṣaḥābah , and the narrations of the senior Ṣaḥābah should be presented instead. In reply to this, it is sufficient to say that Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah Maymūnah bint al-Ḥārith is the maternal aunt of Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās (the sister of his mother, Umm al-Faḍl). Ibn ʿAbbās would frequent the house of his maternal aunt and he would spend the night in the home of his maternal aunt on a number of occasions. As a result, he had better knowledge of this ruling (of twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ being performed), which he explained in the above quoted narration.

Furthermore, there are a number of reasons that indicate that this narration is valid, as we have mentioned briefly above. Taking all of this into account, the objection Ibn ʿAbbās being too young holds no weight and it is synonymous with turning away from the truth. The truth is more worthy of being followed.

During the Era of the al-Khilāfah al- Rāshidah

We have explained briefly the forms of Tarāwīḥ prevalent during the era of nubuwwah in the previous pages, and we have also mentioned sufficient proof for them.

After this, the system of performing Tarāwīḥ during the era of the khilāfah will be explained. Study it carefully.

Khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr

During the khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr ﷺ, the early form of performing Tarāwīḥ continued, i.e. there were various groups in Masjid al-Nabawī performing Tarāwīh.

Alternatively, some would perform Tarāwīḥ at home. Similarly, during the era of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr , Tarāwīḥ continued to be performed but it would not be performed in a single congregation.

The khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr remained for about two years and three months and this method continued throughout this time, which is only two Ramaḍāns.

Khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Umar

Thereafter came the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿUmar . It encompassed about 10 years, beginning in the year 13 A.H. It was here, in 14 A.H, that the congregational form of Tarāwīḥ was adopted.

In the introduction to this discussion, the statement of the scholars of ḥadīth was mentioned that a person (ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn ʿAbd al-Qārī) says that in the era of Sayyidunā ʿUmar , he once went to Masjid al-Nabawī in the company of Sayyidunā ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb . He saw that people were performing ṣalāh in various groups. Some on their own; others behind an imām. Looking at this condition, Sayyidunā 'Umar said that if the people are gathered behind one reciter, it will be more virtuous and better.

'Abd al-Raḥmān says that Sayyidunā 'Umar the people behind one imām, and he gathered them behind Sayyidunā Ubay ibn Ka'b them behind Sayyidunā Ubay ibn Ka'b

The next night, he went with Sayyidunā 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb to the Masjid and he saw all those performing ṣalāh gathered behind one imām, performing Tarāwīḥ. Looking at this, Sayyidunā 'Umar said:

نعمت البدعة هذه

How good is this new way?1

Removal of a doubt

At this point, there is an objection from some that:

- 1. Tarāwīḥ was an innovation of Sayyidunā ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ﷺ
- 2. He referred to it with the words: "How good is this new way?", whereas in the shart ah, every bid ah (innovation) is deviation and bid ah is always despised, so how then can it be termed as good?

The following is reply to this objection:

Two points were raised in this objection:

1. Sayyidunā 'Umar innovated the practice of Tarāwīḥ ṣalāh, i.e. it is not prescribed by the sharī ah.

The reply to this is that Sayyidunā ʿUmar نَوْلَهُ did not innovate Tarāwīḥ ṣalāh, but it was initiated upon the command of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ مَا اللهُ and he instructed the ummah to perform it. Subsequently, a hadīth states:

Rasūlullāh $rac{1}{2}$ mentioned the month of Ramaḍān and said: "Ramaḍān is the month wherein Allah has made fasting compulsory and in this month I have initiated the practice of standing at night (i.e. Tarāwih)."

It is clear from this ḥadīth that Sayyidunā ʿUmar عَنْ did not initiate the practice of Tarāwīḥ, but was performed in accordance to the instruction of Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهِ مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلِيهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلِيهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلِيهُ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلْهِ عَلَيْهِ عَ

- 2. The second objection is that he said about Tarāwīḥ: "How good is this new way (bidʿah)?" and bidʿah is something despised in the sharī ah. The senior scholars have written in reply to this in different eras and this doubt has been dispelled. A few points will be mentioned below in light of their explanation.
- Sayyidunā 'Umar referred to the action of gathering the people behind one imām for Tarāwīḥ as a bidʻah, in terms of the lexical meaning of the word. This is because in the dictionary, any new practice or action is referred to as bidʻah, i.e. this is a new way. However, he did not use the word bidʻah according to the technical definition of sharī ah. It is bidʻah in sharī ah that is despised.

This can be said in other words, that this action of Sayyidunā 'Umar was new in terms of procedure, but not in terms of practice. This is because it was already a verbally established sunnah of Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ وَاللهُ مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ وَاللهُ مَا اللهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ وَاللهُ وَاللهُ عَلَيْهُ وَاللهُ وَاللهُ عَلَيْهُ وَاللّهُ وَ continue with this practice out of fear that it may become obligatory, and when this fear did not exist after the demise of Rasūlullāh مَا الله , it is correct to make a continuous practice of it, it will then not be termed a bid ah.

Mirgāt, the commentary of Mishkāt, states:

He called it bid ah in terms of the procedure of it, because this gathering was brought about after the demise of Rasūlullāh . In terms of reality, it is not a bid ah because Rasūlullāh commanded them to perform it in their homes out of fear that it may become obligatory upon them.

Al-Dhahabī i in his work al-Muntaq \bar{a} writes in clarification of this statement:

He referred to it as bid'ah, and it is not a shar'ī bid'ah that is deviation because that is an action that has no proof in the sharī'ah. If standing in the month of Ramaḍān was something bad, then Amīr al-Mu'minīn Sayyidunā 'Alī www would have classified it as baseless, when he was in Kūfah. Instead it is narrated from him: "May Allah enlighten the grave of 'Umar just as he has enlightened our Masājid (through this congregational worship)."²

The actions of Sayyidunā 'Alī are in itself a clear proof that it was not bid'ah.

² Al-Muntagā p. 542

The summary is that the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn classified this gathering for Tarāwīḥ as something good and they did not take it as a bid ah.

Ibn Taymiyyah ﷺ clarifies this sentence in his work Iqtiḍā' al-Sirāt al-Mustaqīm' p. 276 under the discussion of Tarāwīḥ:

Referring to Tarāwīḥ as bidʿah was in terms of the lexical meaning and not the sharʿī definition of it.

Looking at this clarification of the scholars, the above mentioned objection is totally dismissed.

The narration of Mishkāt which were presented on the authority of Bukhārī does not specify the number of rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ, but only mentions the ruling of Tarāwīḥ in brief. Now we will present the narrations from the era of Sayyidunā ʿUmar in which the number of rakaʿāt are mentioned in detail.

In al-Muwaṭṭa' of Imām Mālik the following narration is mentioned:

Mālik narrates from Yazīd ibn Rūmān that he said: "The people would stand during the era of 'Umar in Ramaḍān for twenty-three rakaʿāt."

Abū ʿAbd Allāh Muḥammad ibn Naṣr al-Marwazī نَا أَنْ in his work Qiyām al-Layl clarifies this matter in the following text:

It is narrated from Yazīd ibn Rūmān that the people would stand in the era of 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb during Ramaḍān for twenty-three rakaʿāt.¹

'Allāmah al-Bayhaqī 🍇 in his work al-Sunan al-Kubrā mentions the above narration from Yazīd ibn Rūmān, (al-Sunan al-Kubrā vol. 2 p. 496).

The purport of these narrations is that during the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'EEE, people would perform twenty-three raka'āt during Ramaḍān. Although the above narration is Mursal, but the senior scholars have clarified:

Mālik narrated it, the chain of narration is Mursal, but it is strong.²

The scholars have written a general rule for the Mursal narrations of Imām Mālik that according to the people of the science, it is ṣaḥīḥ and accepted and worthy of practice.³

Subsequently, from all three previous narrations it is proven that during the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar www, twenty-three raka'āt Tarāwīḥ would be performed in congregation, and it is clear to the scholars that twenty of these raka'āt were Tarāwīh and three raka'āt would be witr.

Now, for our friends, we shall present a few narrations that further prove twenty rakaʿāt, from which the entire matter will be clarified. There is no need for any explanation or interpretation and according to the ḥadīth scholars, these narrations are correct and worthy of acceptance.

³ Tawdīḥ wa Talwīḥ

Wakī narrates from Mālik ibn Anas from Yaḥyā ibn Saʿīd that ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb commanded a person to perform twenty rakaʿāt for them.¹

 Muḥammad ibn Naṣr al-Marwazī has written in his work, Qiyām al-Layl:

Muḥammad ibn Kaʿb al-Qurazī says that the people would perform twenty rakaʿāt during Ramaḍān; they would lengthen the recitation and perform witr of three rakaʿāt.²

3. Narration of Sā'ib ibn Yazīd

Sā'ib ibn Yazīd narrates that they would perform twenty rakaʿāt during Ramaḍān and they would recite of the sūrah's that have a hundred verses... in the era of 'Umar ibn al-Khattāb.'

4. ʿAllāmah al-Bayhaqī عَمَا اللهُ has written in al-Sunan al-Kubrā:

Note:-

The senior scholars have written regarding this narration:

Nawāwī 🍇 said in al-Khulāsah: "The chain of narration is ṣaḥīḥ." 2

Shaykh al-Nīmwī ﷺ writes in Āthār al-Sunan (vol. 2 p. 53-55):

Al-Bayhaqī نها has narrated it and the chain of narration is ṣaḥīḥ.

The summary is that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the chain of al-Bayhaqī's that the scholars of the science have classified the science have cla

Summary:-

The purport of the above narrations is that during khilāfah of Sayyidunā Amīr al-Mu'minīn 'Umar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb ﴿ the Muslims would perform twenty raka ʿāt of Tarāwīh and witr of three raka ʿāt.

The Hāshimi's who followed the ṣalāh were Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā and Sayyidunā ʿAbbās ibn ʿAbd al-Muṭṭalib , as well as other senior Ṣaḥābah .

Sayyidunā 'Umar ' appointed a single imām, who he instructed to lead the people in twenty raka 'āt of Tarāwīḥ.

² Fath al-Qadīr vol. 1 p. 334

Supporting narration

It would be beneficial to quote the words of the senior scholars, which lends support to the above.

In Fatāwā Ibn Taymiyyah, it is written:

It is proven that that Ubay Ibn Kaʿb would lead the people in twenty rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ in Ramaḍān and perform witr of three rakaʿāt. Thus numerous ʿulamāʾ hold the view that it is Sunnah (to perform twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ and not bidʿah) because he led the Muhājirīn and the Anṣār in ṣalāh and no one objected.¹

In short, this communal action was established in the era of the al-Khilāfah al-Rāshidah and not a single Ṣaḥābī claimed this to be a bidʿah. Therefore, it will be correct and does not contradict the Sunnah.

Similarly, ʿAllāmah al-Sūyūṭī ﴿ writes in al-Ḥāwī li al-Fatāwā:

In al-Muwaṭṭā' and Ibn Abī Shaybah and al-Bayhaqī it is reported that 'Umar gathered the people behind Ubay ibn Ka'b , and he would perform twenty raka'āt for them in the month of Ramaḍān.²

At this point, Ḥāfiẓ al-Dhahabī ౷ has mentioned another point that during the era of Sayyidunā ʿUmar ౖ an Anṣārī — Sayyidunā Muʿādh ibn al-Ḥārith al-Qārī — also used to lead the Tarāwīḥ. His title was Abū Ḥakīmah and according to some, Abū Halīmah.

Abū Ḥakīmah Muʻādh ibn al-Ḥārith al-Qārī al-Anṣārī; whom 'Umar appointed to lead the people in Tarāwih.¹

This means that in the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Umar there were a number of imām's. One was Sayyidunā Ubay ibn Ka'b there were a number of imām's. One was Sayyidunā Mu'ādh ibn al-Ḥārith al-Anṣārī the would lead the Tarāwīḥ in accordance to the instruction of Rasūlullāh the work instruction of Rasūlullāh.

It is also beneficial to state at this point that the scholars of ḥadīth have mentioned a third imām of the era of Sayyidunā ʿUmar ʿUmar ʿUmar Lews. He was Sayyidunā Tamīm al-Dārī · He would also lead the ṣalāh at times.

Note:-

These narrations lend credence to the practice during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Umar and established it as ṣaḥīḥ, the senior scholars of the ummah having ruled them as such

Replying another misconception

It is reported in certain narrations that Sayyidunā 'Umar issued the command that eleven raka'āt should be performed in Ramaḍān, which contradicts the narrations cited earlier. The reply to this misconception is as follows:

A contradiction will only be established if it is ascertained that the time period of both narrations are the same, whereas in these two narrations it is found that one refers to an initial practice and the other to the final practice.

In simple terms, the Muḥaddithīn have reconciled between the two narrations.

ʿAllāmah al-Zaylaʿī المُعَلِّمَةُ on the authority of al-Bayhaqī reports:

Both narrations can be reconciled in this way that they would perform eleven rakaʿāt, then twenty and then witr of three rakaʿāt.¹

In Muwaṭṭā' there is a narration of eleven, the narrations are reconciled in this manner that it is said that this took place first then the matter was affixed upon twenty; and that continued.²

Khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān

In the previous pages, the practice of Tarāwīḥ during the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar was explained briefly (which covered about ten and a half years). Now we shall explain in brief the system of Tarāwīḥ during the era of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān which was approximately twelve years.

1. During the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿUthmān ʿŒŒ, the scholars have written that sometimes Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā ŒŒ would lead the nawāfil (Tarāwīḥ).

Qatādah as narrates from Ḥasan sis: "'Alī ibn Abī Ṭālib led us for twenty nights in the era of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān, then he did not come out. Some said: 'He has freed himself for his own worship.' Then Abū Ḥalīmah Mu'ādh al-Qārī led them and he would recite the du'ā of Qunūt."

2. Similarly, during the era of Sayyidunā ʿUthmān , due importance was given to performing Tarāwīḥ. Some of the imām's would recite lengthy portions (of Qur'ān) in this ṣalāh; sūrah's containing a hundred verses (or more). On account of this, some weak people were forced to lean on their sticks. Al-Bayhaqī explains this in al-Sunan al-Kubrā:

Sā'ib ibn Yazīd said: "And they would recite of the sūrah's of a hundred verses and they would lean on their sticks during the era of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān, due to long periods of standing."

Participation of the women

The practice of performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation was from the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Was.'. Similarly, in the era of Sayyidunā 'Umar Was.' A Tābi'ī was appointed imām for the women (Sulaymān ibn Abī Ḥathmah Was). He would lead the women in Tarāwīḥ on a platform in the side of the Masjid. (Arrangements for veiling were made there).

Thereafter, the era of Sayyidunā ʿUthmān arrived and in accordance to his instruction, the men and women were gathered behind one imām (Sulaymān ibn Abī Ḥathmah) and arrangements for screening were made. When the ṣalāh was completed, the women were prevented from leaving the Masjid until all the men left first, after which the women were permitted to leave the Masjid. This is mentioned in detail in Ṭabaqāt Ibn Saʿd in the following narration:

Ubay ibn Kaʿb and Tamīm al-Dārī would stand in the place of Rasūlullāh

and lead the men in ṣalāh. Sulaymān ibn Abī Ḥathmah www would stand and lead the women in a corner of the Masjid. Sayyidunā 'Uthmān ibn 'Affān www gathered the men and women behind one reciter, Sulaymān ibn Ḥathmah, and he would lead the women in ṣalāh; they would wait until the men left then he would allow them to leave.'

It is clear from the above references that the system of performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation continued in the era of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān 'Wow. Sometimes, the senior Ṣaḥābah like Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā 'Wow would personally lead the Tarāwīḥ and he would perform twenty raka'āt. The men and women would participate in this congregational practice. The other imām's would, in accordance to a system, lead this ṣalāh. No known Ṣaḥābī called this a bid'ah and they did not criticise it.

Khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Alī

After the era of Sayyidunā ʿUthmān , in the era of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā , which was approximately four years and nine months, Tarāwīḥ would be duly performed.

The scholars of hadīth and the senior scholars have mentioned the details of this. A few references are given below through which the issue of Tarāwīḥ will be clarified.

Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā ﴿﴿﴿﴿ would issue guidance to his imām's and students to perform Tarāwīḥ.

1. Abū al-Ḥasnā' says that Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā instructed a person to lead the people in twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīh during Ramaḍān.

Wakī narrates from Ḥasan ibn Ṣāliḥ from ʿAmr ibn Qays from Abū al-Ḥasnā' that Sayyidunā ʿAlī commanded a person to lead them for twenty rakaʿāt during Ramaḍān.¹

2. Narration of Urfujah al-Thaqafī

عن عمر الثقفي عن عرفجة الثقفي ان عليا كان يامر الناس بالقيام في شهر رمضان ويجعل الرجال اماما وللنساء امام فقال فامرني فاممت النساء

Urfujah al-Thaqafī narrates that Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā commanded the people to stand in worship during Ramaḍān. "He appointed an imām for the men and an imām to lead the women. He said that I should lead the women, so I led the women."

3. Narration of Abū 'Abd al-Rahmān al-Sulamī

عن عطاء بن السائب عن ابي عبد الرحمن السلمي عن علي رضي الله عنه قال دعا القراء في رمضان فامر منهم رجلا يصلي بالناس عشرين ركعة وكان علي رضي الله عنه يوتر بهم وروى ذالك من وجه آخر من على

Abū 'Abd al-Raḥmān al-Sulamī narrates; that Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā called the qurrā' (plural of Qārī') during Ramaḍān and commanded one of them to lead the people in twenty raka'āt. Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā would personally lead the people in witr.3

Now we present those narrations that are transmitted from the direct students of Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtadā '''', which will inform us of their perpetual practice.

³ Al-Sunan al-Kubrā vol.2 p. 497, al-Muntaqā p. 42

This is the action which was out upon the instruction of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā and during that time, no one raised the objection of this being against the Sunnah.

Note:-

In our book, Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā ﷺ, this ruling is also discussed under the section of "fiqhī rulings".

Şuwayd ibn Ghaflah is the famous student of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā نفي . He is a reliable personality amongst the senior Tābiʿīn. Our scholars have written that he arrived in Madīnah on the day that Rasūlullāh نام was buried.

His student Abū al-Khāsīb relates that Ṣuwayd ibn Ghafalah would lead us in twenty rakaʻāt of Tarāwīḥ during Ramaḍān, and he would complete the ṣalāh in five *Tarwīḥah*¹. Tarāwīḥ of twenty rakaʻāt would be completed in this manner.²

Similarly, one of the students of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā was Shattīr ibn Shakl , he would lead the people for twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ in Ramaḍān and he would lead three rakaʿāt of witr.³

Summary

The method as well as the importance given to Tarāwīḥ during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā , and the way that his students always practised on it, was touched on in the preceding pages.

¹ Tarwīḥah: To remain seated for a short duration after every four rakaʿāt.

³ Ibid vol. 2 p. 496

These narrations make it abundantly clear that t during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā ﷺ, as well as his students, Tarāwīḥ would be performed in congregation, and that too in twenty raka'āt and the witr of three raka'āt. This practice continued thereafter. In short, during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā ﷺ, Tarāwīḥ was not abandoned, nor was there a decrease in the number of raka'āt.

The method of Tarāwīḥ which was practiced during the eras of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr, Sayyidunā ʿUmar and Sayyidunā ʿUthmān was explained, underlining the practice of the Muslim ummah for approximately twenty-five years. In all this time, the practice of the senior Ṣaḥābah and senior Tābiʿīn was found to be twenty rakaʿāt.

During this entire period, no Ṣaḥābī or Tābiʿī claimed this practice to be a bidʿah — classifying it to be contrary to the Sunnah — and worthy of abandonment. The practice of the Muslim ummah with regards to Tarāwīḥ could never have been an agreement upon deviation (which this ummah has been saved from), nor a bidʿah, but rather it was precisely in accordance to the sunnah.

Rasūlullāh's المناقبة Emphasis on Adhering to the Practice of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn

We shall now present the validity of performing twenty rakaʿat Tarāwīḥ in congregation through a different means, which is corroborated by the blessed aḥādīth of Rasūlullāh مَا اللهُ اللهُ اللهُ instructed his ummah: "O people! hold on firmly to my sunnah and the sunnah of my al-khulafā' al-Rāshidīn after me, follow them and remain firm upon their way."

This hadīth has been recorded by a number of scholars, each with their own chain of narration, regarding which the scholars are well aware. However, for the sake of putting our 'friends' at ease, we quote this narration from the books of hadīth.

1. The famous scholar of ḥadīth, Muḥammad ibn Naṣr al-Marwazī (d. 294 A.H) in his Kitāb al-Sunnah mentions the narration in the following way:

عن عرباض بن سارية الفزاري وكان من الباكين قال صلى بنا رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم صلاة الغداة فاقبل علينا فوعظنا موعظة بليغة ... فانه من يعيش منكم فسيرى اختلافا كثيرا فعليكم بسنتي وسنة الخلفاء الراشدين المهديين من بعدي

Sayyidunā 'Irbād ibn Sāriyah in narrates: "Rasūlullāh ied us in the morning (fajr) ṣalāh. He then turned towards us and delivered a heart rendering advice... (Rasūlullāh said :) 'Whoever amongst you is granted a healthy lifespan will see abundant differences, so hold on to my sunnah and the sunnah of the al-khulafā' al-Rāshidīn after me.'"

2. This narration appears as follows in Mishkāt:

عن عرباض بن سارية قال صلى بنا رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ذات يوم ثم اقبل علينا بوجهه... فعليكم بسنتي وسنة الخلفاء الراشدين المهديين تمسكوا بها وعضوا عليها بالنواجذ ...الخ رواه أحمد وأبو داؤد والترمذي وابن ماجة

Sayyidunā 'Irbād ibn Sāriyah ima narrates: "Rasūlullāh ibn led us in ṣalāh one day, he then turned towards us (and said :)... hold on to my Sunnah and the Sunnah of the al-khulafā' al-Rāshidīn, grasp onto it, and clench it with your molars."

This very narration has been reported in the following works:

- 3. Al-Sunan of al-Dārimī p. 26
- 4. Al-Mustadrak of al-Ḥākim وَهَمُهُ اللَّهُ vol. 1 p. 96
- 5. Al-Sunan al-Kubrā p. 114
- 6. Mawārid al-Ṣam'ān ilā Zawā'id Ibn Ḥibbān p. 56 narration: 102

² Mishkāt p. 29, 30

The summary and purport of the above narrations are the same as explained previously, i.e. Rasūlullāh delivered a sermon in which, among other aspects, he issued the instruction, "You will see abundant differences after me, so hold on to my sunnah and the sunnah of the al-khulafā' al-Rāshidīn after me (i.e. adhere to it strictly)."

Thereafter we find special instructions from Rasūlullāh to follow Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā ʿUmar ﴿ and the narrations in this regard are ṣaḥīḥ according to the scholars of ḥadīth.

A few of these narrations are presented below:

1. Narration of Sayyidunā Ḥudhayfah ﴿ اللهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِيْكُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ اللّهُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِي عَلَيْكُ عَلِيكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِيكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِيكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِيكُ عَلَيْكُ عَلِيكُ عَلِي عَلِيك

Sayyidunā Ḥudhayfah an narrates: "We were sitting with Rasūlullāh when he said: 'I do not know for how long I shall remain among you. Follow those after me...' and he gestured towards Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar a...'."

2. In Tirmidhī, this narration is mentioned with the following text:

Sayyidunā Ḥudhayfah narrates that Rasūlullāh ﷺ said: "Follow those who come after me: Abū Bakr and 'Umar."²

3. Jāmiʿ Masānīd al-Imām al-Aʿzam vol. 1 p. 226

The above narration was narrated from Sayyidunā Ḥudhayfah . A

² Tirmidhī vol. 2 p. 207

narration of the same subject matter is narrated from Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn Masʿūd :

Sayyidunā Ibn Mas'ūd Abū Bakr and 'Umar." said: "Follow those who come after: Abū Bakr and 'Umar."

The summary is that in these aḥādīth, we find an emphatic command from Rasūlullāh مَا الله to follow the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn, especially Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar ناسته 'Umar المنافعة '.

Three of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn, ('Umar, 'Uthmān and 'Alī) would perform twenty raka'āt of Tarāwīḥ in congregation and in accordance to their practice, this has been the continuous practice since their respective eras until today.

Therefore, in this matter, it is necessary to follow the practice of the rightly guided khulafā'— in accordance to the hadīth— and this is in direct conformity with the Sharī'ah of Nabī Muḥammad $\hat{\omega}$. It does not contradict the Sunnah, but rather would be precisely in line with the instructions of Rasūlullāh $\hat{\omega}$.

The practice of the Ṣaḥābah

The method of Tarāwīḥ as practiced by the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn has been discussed in the preceding pages, now the practice of a few senior Ṣaḥābah with regards to Tarāwīḥ will be discussed; which will clarify the ruling of twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīh.

The practice of Sayyidunā Ubay ibn Kab

The scholars of ḥadīth have written that Sayyidunā Ubay ibn Kaʿb www would lead the people of Madīnah Munawwarah in twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ during Ramaḍān and he would then perform three rakaʿāt witr. The words of the narration inform us of his continuous practice. Ibn Abī Shaybah ﷺ reports:

Ubay ibn Ka'b would lead the people in for twenty raka'āt during Ramaḍān in Madīnah and he would perform three raka'āt witr.¹

We gauge from this narration that in Madīnah Munawwarah, the Ṣaḥābah would always perform twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ and three rakaʿāt witr.

The practice of Sayyidunā Ibn Masʿūd

After this, the practice of Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd www is mentioned. Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd www is that Ṣaḥābī regarding whom the scholars of ḥadīth have written:

He ('Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd $\stackrel{\text{def}}{=}$) was the closest to Rasūlullāh $\stackrel{\text{def}}{=}$ in terms of his ways, habits and manner.²

Moreover, Rasūlullāh مَا تَعْنَا said with regards to Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd المعالمة :

Hold onto the counsel and advice of Ibn Masʿūd.³

In the light of these statements, the rank of Ibn Masʿūd as well as his adherence to the Sunnah is abundantly clear. The scholars of ḥadīth have written

² Mishkāt p. 574, with reference to Bukhārī

³ Tirmidhī p. 542

with regards to Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd :: with regards to Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abd Allāh ib

'Abd Allāh ibn Mas'ūd would perform twenty raka'āt and three raka'āt witr.¹

Thus, it is apparent that Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn Masʿūd's نقيقة practice was upon twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ which he had preserved from Rasūlullāh مالمنافقة and held onto.

The Method of Ibn 'Abbas in Shar'ī rulings

عن عبد الله بن ابي يزيد قال سمعت عبد الله بن عباس رضي الله عنهما سئل عن شيئ هو في كتاب الله قال به وان لم يكن في كتاب الله وقاله رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم قال به وان لم يكن في كتاب الله ولم يقله رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم وقاله ابو بكر وعمر رضي الله عنهما قال به والا اجتهد رايه

Whenever someone would ask Sayyidunā ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿAbbās al-Hāshimī a question and its answer could be found in the Qur'ān then he would reply accordingly. If the ruling was not in the Qur'ān but could be found in the Sunnah, then he would reply accordingly. If the ruling was not in the Qur'ān or the Sunnah but could be found in the statements of Abū Bakr and ʿUmar), then he would reply accordingly. If he could not find the answer in one of the three then he would reply according to his ijtihād.²

Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abbās was of the view of twenty raka'āt Tarāwīḥ since it was the practice that was decided upon during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Umar www. Sayyidunā Ibn 'Abbās would practice according to the view of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar www, and he would reagrd that as a Shar'ī proof. Thus, Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Abbās was of the view that twenty raka'āt Tarāwīh and that too in congregation was correct.

Note:-

In the previous pages (under the narrations of "era of nubuwwah") the marfū' narration of Sayyidunā Ibn 'Abbās was quoted wherein there is explicit mention of twenty raka'āt. Although there is criticism regarding a few of its narrators, it is corroborated by other factors and narrations, and its content is thus correct. The practice of the senior Ṣaḥābah was highlighted and now this narration of al-Bayhaqī was presented. The purpose of quoting this narration is to lend support to the practice of Ibn 'Abbās with regards to twenty raka'āt, it was with this intention that this narration was quoted.

The practice of the Ummahāt al-Mu'minīn

The senior ḥadīth scholars and jurists have reported that Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah would also perform Tarāwīḥ; she would lead the women in nafl ṣalāh. The method I which she performed the ṣalāh was that she would stand in the middle of the row (a little ahead) and lead the Tarāwīḥ. This is mentioned by the senior jurists in the following books:

1. Narration from Abū Ḥanīfah

It is narrated from Abū Ḥanīfah from Ḥammād ibn Ibrāhīm from ʿĀ'ishah that she would lead the women in nafl ṣalāh in Ramaḍān, and she would stand in the middle of the row.

2. The Muḥaddithīn have written that Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah had a slave by the name of Dhakwān, whose agnomen was Abū 'Amr. He was also the doorkeeper of Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah . One special service of Dhakwān was that during Ramaḍān, he would lead Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah in Tarāwīḥ. Imām Mālik states this in his Muwattā':

Mālik ibn Hishām ibn 'Urwah narrates from his father that Dhakwān Abū 'Amr, who was the slave of Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah - the wife of Rasūlullāh — and whom she had declared would be free upon her demise, would stand and recite for her during Ramaḍān.¹

3. The senior jurists have clarified regarding the Tarāwīḥ of the Ummahāt al-Mu'minīn that Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah would perform Tarāwīḥ behind Dhakwān. Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah Umm Salamah would perform Tarāwīḥ in congregation with a group of women and her servant, Umm al-Ḥasan al-Basrī, would lead the congregation.

This is mentioned in Fatāwā Qāḍī Khān in the following text:

The wives of Rasūlullāh , such as Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah and Umm Salamah would establish this (ṣalāh) behind Dhakwān. Umm Salamah would perform it with a group of women, led by her servant, Umm al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī, and she was in the row.²

In short, this practice of the Ummahāt al-Mu'minīn فعلى continued during Ramaḍān and this was done in accordance to the instruction of Rasūlullāh , they would have never gone against his instruction.

² Fatāwā Qādī Khān vol. 1 p. 213

In the previous pages, we highlighted the practice of the Ṣaḥābah and the Ummahāt al-Mu'minīn . When they agree on a sharʿī ruling and make it a practice, then their consensus serves as proof for us.

The senior scholars have mentioned the following by way of principle:

Principle: Tawāruth (continuous practice of the predecessors) and Taʿāmul (general practice of the ummah), is the pillar of religion. In other words, the practice of the Ṣaḥābah on something is a resolute proof and an established Sunnah, which cannot be rejected.¹

Ijmā' Sukūtī

It is also imperative to note that no Ṣaḥābī objected to the performance of twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ in congregation nor did anyone classify it as contrary to the sunnah. Thus, we can conclude that $Ijm\bar{a}$ ʿ $Suk\bar{u}t\bar{\iota}$ (consensual silence) was attained. In addition to the other poofs for this, the consensual silence of that era serves as separate corroborating evidence.

Statements of the Tābiʿīn and Tabaʿ al-Tābiʿīn

The practice of the Ṣaḥābah has been discussed in detail, now the statements of the Tābiʿīn and Tabaʿ al-Tābiʿīn will be mentioned.

Ibrāhīm Nakha'ī

Ibrāhīm Nakha'ī هُمْ is among the senior Tābi'īn and his Mursal narrations are accepted by the jurists. The Muḥaddithīn and jurists report the following from him:

It is reported from Ibrāhīm Nakhaʿī hat the people would perform five Tarwīḥah during Ramaḍān. 1

The term 'tarwīḥah' implies to wait for a little while after every four rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ in fiqh terminology, and in the case of five tarwīḥah, twenty rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ are completed.

'Aţā' ibn Abī Rabāḥ

The famous Tābiʿī, ʿAṭāʾ ibn Abī Rabāḥ ఈ , is quoted by the senior Muḥaddithīn as saying:

It is narrated from 'Aṭā': "I found the people and they were performing twenty-three raka'āt including witr." 2

This means that twenty rakaʿāt would be Tarāwīḥ and three rakaʿāt would be witr.

'Aṭā' ibn Abī Rabāḥ ఈ mentioned the practice of the Muslims of his time which the people had been perpetually practicing.

Ibn Abī Mulaykah

The Muḥaddithūn have mentioned the practice of the renowned Tābiʿī, ʿAbd Allāh ibn ʿUbayd Allāh ibn Abī Mulaykah وَهَمُاللهُ , better known as Ibn Abī Mulaykah, as follows:

Wakīʻ narrates from Nāfiʻ— the freed slave of Ibn ʿUmar — that Ibn Abī Mulaykah would lead us in twenty rakaʻāt during Ramaḍān.¹

It is quite apparent that practice of the senior scholars of this ummah during the month of Ramaḍān was twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ.

'Alī ibn Rabī'ah

The Muḥaddithīn have written about 'Alī ibn Rabī'ah 500 — a famous Tābi'ī — that during Ramaḍān he would lead the Muslims in five Tarwīḥah, and he would perform three raka'āt witr. Ibn Abī Shaybah mentions the following narration:

It is narrated from Saʿīd ibn ʿUbayd that ʿAlī ibn Rabīʿah would perform five Tarwīhah for them in Ramaḍān and three rakaʿāt witr.²

There are statements and practices of many senior Tābi in regarding this but for the sake of brevity; we have sufficed with just these few.

Note:-

The statements and practices of a few senior Tābiʿīn have been mentioned above. This was the era regarding which the following glad tidings have been mentioned:

The best of eras is my era, then the one which follows it and then the one which follows it.

In this blessed era twenty rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ would be performed, in accordance to the sharī ah and was never considered to be contrary to the sunnah or to be a bid ah. It is well-known that the practice of the best of eras is best to follow.

Explanations of the senior scholars of the ummah

Now we shall mention in brief, the explanations of the senior Muḥaddithīn and famous scholars regarding Tarāwīḥ, wherein it is clearly mentioned that Tarāwīḥ is twenty rakaʿāt. Through the elucidations of the senior scholars of the ummah the importance of Tarāwīḥ will become clear.

 'Allāmah Ibn Nujaym ﷺ in his work al-Baḥr al-Rā'iq reports this incident from al-Ikhtiyār:

وذكر في الاختيار ان ابا يوسف رحمة الله عليه سال ابا حنيفة رحمة الله عليه عنها وما فعله عمر فقال
التراويح سنة مؤكدة ولم يتخرجه عمر من تلقاء نفسه ولم يكن فيه متبدعا ولم يامر به الاعن لديه وعهد
من رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم

(Once the esteemed student of Imām Abū Ḥanīfah) Abū Yūsuf , asked Abū Ḥanīfah about the method of Tarāwīḥ practiced by Sayyidunā ʿUmar , and Ḥanīfah replied:

Tarāwīḥ is Sunnah Mu'akkadah, and ʿUmar في did not prescribe it or bring it into vogue of his own accord. He was not practising on an innovation in this and he did not command anything unless it was practiced in the era of Rasūlullāh منافعة أ

 Imām al-Tirmidhī his work Jāmi al-Tirmidhī has thrown light on this matter in the following text:

The majority of the people of knowledge are unanimous that (Tarāwīḥ) is twenty rakaʿāt based upon what has been narrated from ʿAlī, ʿUmar and other Ṣaḥābah . This is the view of Sufyān al-Thowrī, Ibn al-Mubārak and Imām al-Shāfiʿī. Moreover, Imām al-Shāfiʿī says: "I found the people of our city, Makkah, performing twenty rakaʿāt."

• Similarly, the famous Muḥaddith Imām al-Baghawī ﷺ mentions the above text in the following way:

As for most of the people of knowledge, they are on the view of twenty rakaʿāt, they would perform twenty rakaʿāt.³

The famous Ḥanafī jurist, Shams al-A'immah al-Sarakhsī writes in his work al-Mabsūṭ on this issue:

The perpetrators of bidʻah have refuted performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation. Nonetheless, performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation is a symbol of it being sunnah, just as performing the obligatory ṣalāh in congregation is a symbol of Islam.⁵

In other words, the senior scholars of the ummah have given such importance to the performance of Tarāwīḥ in congregation in the Masājid that they counted it to be among the characteristics and signs of religion.

Moreover, al-Sarakhsī هُمُنْالُهُ has also mentioned:

² Al-Ḥusayn ibn Masʿūd, d. 516 A.H.

³ Sharh al-Sunnah vol. 4 p. 123

⁴ Abū Bakr Muhammad ibn Abī Sahl, d. 490 A.H.

⁵ Kitāb al-Mabsūt vol. 2 p. 145

In other words, Sayyidunā 'Umar was not alone in the ruling of performing Tarāwīḥ in congregation and it was not an action that he did alone, but the senior Ṣaḥābah was were with him. Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā was especially pleased with this ruling, to the extent that after the demise of Sayyidunā 'Umar was, he made supplicated for him. During his khilāfah, he too commanded Tarāwīḥ to be performed in congregation.¹

The references quoted above make it extremely clear that the Ṣaḥābah agreed with Sayyidunā 'Umar in this ruling. It is well-known that the Ṣaḥābah will not collectively agree upon something incorrect or contrary to the sharīʿah. Therefore, twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ is in accordance to the sharīʿah and does not contradict the sunnah way.

The renowned Ḥanafī scholar, 'Allāmah al-Kāsānī ຜູ້ໄດ້ຮ² writes in al-Badā'i' al-Sanā'i':

'Umar gathered the Ṣaḥābah of Rasūlullāh 如 in Ramaḍān and appointed Ubay ibn Ka'b as the imām:

Ubay ibn Ka'b would lead them every night of Ramaḍān in twenty raka'āt and no person refuted this. Thus there is consensus amongst them upon this matter.³

These narrations indicate that there is consensus upon twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ amongst the Ṣaḥābah , which is termed Ijmāʿ Sukūtī. Ijmāʿ is a proof in sharī'ah. Therefore, it is not correct to refer to this issue as bid'ah or contrary to the Sunnah.

'Allāmah Muḥammad ibn Aḥmad ibn Rushd al-Qurṭubī (d. 595 A.H), known as Ibn Rushd al-Mālikī, writes in his work Bidāyat al-Mujtahid, wherein he has clarified this issue in the following manner:

There is a difference of opinion with regards to the number of rakaʿāt performed in Ramaḍān (in Tarāwīḥ), but according to one view of Imām Mālik and according to Imām Abū Ḥanīfah, Imām Shāfiʿī, Imām Aḥmad, and Imām Dāwūd, twenty rakaʿāt is preferred, without witr (and is classified as the preferred view).¹

This means that according to all the scholars mentioned above, the performance of twenty rakaʿāt is a decided matter.

• Amongst the famous Ḥambalī scholars, Ibn Qudāmah ², quotes in his famous work al-Mughnī, the view of the senior scholars:

According to Aḥmad ibn Ḥambal twenty rakaʿāt is the preferred view. This is the opinion of al-Thowrī, Abū Ḥanīfah, and Shāfiʿī has.3

In short, Tarāwīḥ is twenty rakaʿāt according to the senior scholars of the ummah, and this is the preferred ruling according to them.

The famous Muḥaddith and jurist, 'Allāmah Badr al-Dīn al-'Aynī www (d. 855 A.H), mentions in his commentary of Bukhārī:

واما القائلون به (عشرين ركعة) من التابعين فشتير بن شكل وابن ابي مليكة والحارث الهمداني وعطاء بن ابي رباح وابو البختري وسعيد بن ابي الحسن البصري اخوا الحسن وعبد الرحمن بن ابي بكر وعمران العبدي وقال ابن عبد البر وهو قول جمهور العلماء وبه قال الكوفيون والشافعي واكثر فقهاء وهو الصحيح ابى بن كعب من غير خلاف من الصحابة

As for the Tābiʿīn who held the view of twenty rakaʿāt, they are: Shattīr ibn Shakl, Ibn Abī Mulaykah, al-Ḥārith al-Ḥamdānī, ʿAṭāʾ ibn Rabāḥ, Abū al-Bukhtarī, Saʿīd ibn Abī al-Ḥasan al-Baṣrī (the brother of Ḥasan al-Baṣrī), ʿAbd al-Raḥmān ibn Abī Bakr, and ʿImrān al-ʿAbdī. Ibn ʿAbd al-Barr said: "This is the view of the majority of the scholars, which was agreed upon by the jurists of Kūfah, Imām al-Shāfiʿī, and majority of the fuqahāʾ. This is the correct opinion as narrated from Ubay ibn Kaʿb, without any difference of opinion amongst the Ṣaḥābah.¹

A Few Questions Regarding Tarāwīh Being Eight Rakaʿāt

Some people present the following ḥadīth of Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah that Tarāwīḥ is eight rakaʿāt, after which they claim that performing more than this is contrary to the sunnah.

عن ابي سلمة بن عبد الرحمن انه سال عائشة كيف كانت صلوة رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في رمضان فقالت ما كان يزيد في رمضان ولا في غيره على احدى عشرة ركعة يصلي اربعا فلا تسئل عن حسنهن وطولهن ثم يصلي ثلاثا فقلت يا رسول الله اتنام قبل ان توتر قال يا عائشة ان عيني تنامان ولا ينام قلبي

Abū Salamah ibn ʿAbd al-Raḥmān asked Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah ﷺ: "How would Rasūlullāh ﷺ perform ṣalāh during Ramaḍān?" She replied: "During Ramaḍān and out of Ramaḍān, Rasūlullāh ﷺ would not perform more than eleven rakaʿāt. He would perform four rakaʿāt, do not ask about their length and beauty. Then he would perform another four rakaʿāt, do not ask about their length and beauty. Then he would perform three rakaʿāt." Sayyidah ʿĀʾishah then said: "I asked: 'O Rasūl of Allah, will you sleep before performing witr.' He replied: 'O ʿĀʾishah, my eyes sleep, my heart does not.'"

This narration is reported by a number of Muḥaddithīn, as is indicated in the references. This narration is also ṣaḥīḥ and as a result the claim is made that it is actually sunnah to perform eight rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ, and anything more than this is contrary to the Sunnah, which is not permissible. Thus, we should only perform eight rakaʿāt of Tarāwīḥ and nothing more.

Answer

In reply to the claim made above, we wish to mention a few points. If one were to ponder over them, the ruling will become clear.

The scholars have stated that before a final conclusion can be made all the narrations regarding a specific matter has to be studied, only then can a ruling be issued. In this regard, we have already mentioned the other narrations pertaining to this ruling.

As for this narration quoted above, Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah وَصَلِيقَةُ is narrating about the Ṣalāt Tahajjud (nightly prayers) of Rasūlullāh مَالِسُنَا اللهُ ال

Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah narrates: "Rasūlullāh ﴿ would perform thirteen rakaʿāt at night, then he would perform two short rakaʿāt when the adhān for Fajr would be called out." ²

Similarly, the following is mentioned in other narrations of Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah

Masrūq relates: "I asked Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah ﷺ about the ṣalāh of Rasūlullāh at night and she said: 'Besides the two rakaʿāt of Fajr, Rasūlullāh would perform seven, nine and eleven rakaʿāt."

These narrations of Umm al-Mu'minīn Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah ﷺ establishes that the ṣalāh of Rasūlullāh at night was seven, nine, eleven and sometimes thirteen rakaʿāt. Similarly, other Ṣaḥābah ﷺ, viz. Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās ﴿ Sayyidunā Zayd ibn Khālid al-Juhanī ﴿ and others, narrate the nightly ṣalāh of Rasūlullāh ﴿ was thirteen rakaʿāt. The following works can be referred:

- 1. Muslim vol. 1 p. 260
- 2. Muslim vol. 1 p. 262
- 3. Mishkāt p. 106

Therefore, there seems to be an apparent contradiction between these narrations and the narration of Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah feeting mentioning eleven raka'āt, i.e. in terms of the number of raka'āt. It is thus clear that the night ṣalāh of Rasūlullāh was not only eleven raka'āt, but would sometimes be seven, sometimes nine, sometimes eleven and sometimes even thirteen raka'āt, as is apparent from the above narrations. We will first mention the consolidation of the Muḥaddithīn, and in order to remove the apparent contradiction of this narration, we shall explain a few more aspects related to this narration, Allah willing.

Consolidating the Narrations

In order to consolidate these narrations, the scholars have mentioned the following interpretation:

The difference is probably a result of differences in time and condition, or the length of the recitation or the shortness of it, or health or illness, or strength, or perhaps to illustrate that there is scope in this matter.¹

Thus, the difference in the narrations can be based on the following:

- 1. Difference in time
- 2. Difference in condition
- 3. The length of the recitation
- 4. Differences during health and illness
- 5. Strength and weakness
- 6. Ease for the ummah

In short, the reasons for the differences of these narrations have been explained by the Muhaddithīn and there remains no contradiction between these narrations.

The Muḥaddithīn have also explained another method by which these narrations may be consolidated, that the narration of eleven Rakaʿāt mentioned by Sayyidah ʿĀʾishah نَّالْمُعْمُوسَةُ was describing the usual habit of Rasūlullāh مَالِّمُ and not a fixed ruling in this regard.

In order to consolidate the narrations, the Muḥaddithīn have also written that the questioner in the narration of Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah , Abū Salamah ibn ʿAbd al-

Raḥmān, wished to know whether the Tahajjud Ṣalāh of Rasūlullāh المنافقة was the same in Ramaḍān and out of Ramaḍān or was there a difference? Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah نقافة thus replied that this ṣalāh was 'generally' not more than eleven raka'āt during Ramadān and out of Ramadān.

It should be borne in mind that the question was not concerning Tarāwīḥ nor did Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah discuss it, nor does the context of this ḥadīth deal with Tarāwīḥ. In short, there is no mention of Tarāwīḥ in the question or in the answer of Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah discussion was about Tahajjud.

The following text of Fatāwā ʿAzīzī is presented in support of this explanation. Shāh ʿAbd al-ʿAzīz Muḥaddith Dehlawī ﴿ Explains:

Sayyidah 'Ā'ishah asked Rasūlullāh asked: "Do you sleep before performing witr?" Rasūlullāh are replied: "O 'Ā'ishah, my eyes sleep but my heart does not sleep." The commentators of ḥadīth state that it is apparent that sleeping before performing witr is understood in the case of Tahajjud, but this is not understood in the case of other forms of ṣalāh. The narrations which mention more raka'āt than this refer to Tarāwīḥ, which was referred to as Qiyām Ramaḍān at that time.¹

Thus, we learn that the narration of Sayyidah ʿĀ'ishah is discussing Tahajjud, and has no link to Tarāwīḥ. Therefore, when this narration does not concern Tarāwīḥ, then it is totally out of place to cite it as proof, or to draw the conclusion from it that Tarāwīḥ is eight rakaʿāt. This explanation is a case of interpreting the speech in a manner, that was never implied.

Note:-

In conclusion, it would not be void of benefit to highlight the differences between $Tar\bar{a}w\bar{n}$, and Tahajjud; how they differ in form and ruling.

Tahajjud was fard at first, and a year later its compulsion was abrogated.
 Its status then reduced to that of nafl (optional).¹

As for Tarāwīḥ, when fasting became obligatory in 2 A.H then Rasūlullāh مَا اللَّهُ عَلَيْهُ عَلَيْهُ aid:

Allah has made the fasting of Ramaḍān obligatory and He made the standing at night (Tarāwīḥ) optional.

- Rasūlullāh عَالِسَا الله used to perform Tahajjud at the end of the night, while Tarāwīḥ was performed in the beginning of the night the first time, till half the night passed the second time and until the end of the night the third time.
- Rasūlullāh www. used to perform Tahajjud individually. At times, someone may have joined him later, after having already begun, such as Sayyidunā Ibn ʿAbbās www. on one occasion came and joined him. This is in contrast to Tarāwīḥ, which was performed a number of times in congregation.

We learn from this that Tahajjud and Tarāwīḥ are two separate ṣalāh and the conditions and rulings pertaining to them are different.

Taking the above into account, it becomes clear that the above quoted narration has no relation to Tarāwīḥ, but rather it deals with Tahajjud and nafl ṣalāh. Therefore, it can never be correct to cite this ḥadīth as proof for Tarāwīḥ.

Counter Argument

A few counter arguments will now be cited to those who are obstinate in their view that Tarāwīḥ is eight rakaʿāt, based on the narration of Sayyidah ʿĀʾishah

, and raise a huge clamour about twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ, deeming it to be contrary to the sunnah.

- These people always perform Tarāwīḥ and witr in the beginning of the night, i.e. in the first half of the night, whereas Rasūlullāh used to perform witr sometimes in the first part of the night, sometimes in the middle of the night and generally in the last part (which was most often the case).
- In the narrations presented, the ṣalāh is described in sets of four rakaʿāt, then witr of three rakaʿāt, whereas they perform the ṣalāh in sets of two rakaʿāt and they say that the narration of three rakaʿāt witr is weak. It is as though half the narration is worthy of being practiced and the other half not worthy of practice. This is a strange method of substantiation indeed.
- Moreover, they perform this ṣalāh throughout Ramaḍān in congregation, whereas after three days, Rasūlullāh مَا did not perform it in congregation.
- It is proven from this narration that Rasūlullāh مَالَمُنْكُونِكُ went to sleep, woke up and then performed this ṣalāh, whereas they perform this ṣalāh before sleeping.

In short, all other aspects which do not conform to this narration are not deemed to be contrary to the sunnah, whereas it is only the number of rakaʿāt (twenty) which they find objectionable; employing all their strength and effort to prove that it is contrary to the sunnah.

Summary

To summarise, the method of performing Tarāwīḥ as practiced by the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn and the Ṣaḥābah has been discussed in the preceding pages. The statements of the senior Tābi'īn and other scholars were then presented, followed by a reply to the narration of eleven rakaʿāt. In the light of all the quoted material the following deduction may be made:

- Twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ is a sunnah and not bidʿah.
- Tarāwīḥ Ṣalāh is Sunnah Mu'akkadah, established by authentic narrations and sound reasoning.
- Tarāwīḥ in congregation is a symbol of the sunnah and a symbol of Islam.
- Tarāwīḥ in congregation is a Sunnah that has been passed down through the generations
- There is Ijmāʿ of the Ṣaḥābah with regards to Tarāwīḥ and consensus is a proof of the sharīʿah.
- We find agreement and consensus amongst the senior luminaries of the ummah upon twenty rakaʿāt, as well their practice being upon it.
- In addition, from the Ṣaḥābah 如如如 until the fifteenth century after hijrah, the Muslims have continuously performed twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ in the two Ḥarams (Masjid al-Ḥarām and Masjid al-Nabawī), and Rasūlullāh addition said:

My ummah will not gather upon deviation.

Thus we can conclude that the majority of the Muslim ummah will not gather upon deviation in this ruling and they will not agree upon acting contrary to the Sunnah.

To abandon the performance of twenty rakaʿāt Tarāwīḥ in congregation — without any sharʿī reason — opposes the instruction of Rasūlullāh "Hold onto the group..." and it is synonymous with abandoning the sign of Islam.

Answering the Accusation on Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah

The Shī ah criticise Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah that he had committed adultery and there were witnesses to his deed. However, Sayyidunā ʿUmar made supplicated for the last witness, and enticed him, resulting in the testimony being incomplete. As a result, Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah was saved from the punishment for adultery.

The criticism here is directed to both these Ṣaḥābah s. Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah s was criticised with the accusation of adultery and Sayyidunā ʿUmar s was accused of not implementing the sharʿī punishment.

Answer:-

There are a number of points that require clarification, which we will mention in sequence, and through which the answer to this accusation will become clear.

Firstly this incident of Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah was been narrated by various chains of narrations, and the lengthy discourse of its credibility has been discussed extensively in many places. Repeating it here will juts unnecessarily lengthen the discussion. If we were to turn away from scrutinising the chains of narration, and hypothetically accept this incident to a certain degree, then we must analyse the circumstances in which this incident occurred and what was the background to it.

The historians write that during the period when Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah was governor of Baṣrah, there were a few people opposed to him, amongst them being Abū Bakarah.

According to some historians, such as al-Ṭabarī and al-Balādhurī, his opposition had accused him of this wrong doing on account of an argument or dispute that had occurred between them. His opposition then bore testimony against Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah to Sayyidunā ʿUmar to Sayyidunā hat he had committed adultery. The testimony was incomplete and could thus not prove the allegation. As a result, the case was dropped and his accusers were punished for their false accusation. This was in strict accordance to the laws of the sharī ah, and to now claim that it was a plot and a ploy to save his life is nothing more than conjecture and sheer injustice.

Adding to this, the Shī ah claim that Sayyidunā 'Umar www enticed the witnesses, which is utterly baseless. These additions were added into the narration by some of its narrators, thus it is a clear that this is a false accusation against Sayyidunā 'Umar www.

Shāh 'Abd al-'Azīz هُنَاأُهُ says:

Encouraging the witnesses is a false accusation and slander.

In another place, he writes:

The reason for this is that when this incident was presented in the court of Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Wish, there were a number of senior Ṣaḥābah 'Wish — including Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā 'Wish — present. It was the inherent quality and characteristic of these great luminaries to refute anything they saw as unjust and to voice themselves in refutation of it. Why would they remain silent in this matter? How could they not refute something unjust and false?

It is apparent that nothing contrary to the Sharīʿah had transpired nor was any form of injustice carried out, nor was there anything objectionable that took place.

A further explanation

Some scholars have given the following explanation with regards to this incident, Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Ḥajar in Talkhīs al-Ḥabīr states:

Al-Balādhurī says that the woman with whom Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah was accused was Umm Jamīl bint Miḥjan al-Hilāliyyah, and it is said that Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah had married this woman in secret, and Sayyidunā ʿUmar classified a secret nikāḥ as impermissible and would punish those who did this. It is because of this that Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah remained silent. I have not seen this reported with a chain of narration, and if it is regarded as correct then it will serve as an acceptable excuse for this Ṣahābī.¹

In short, the incident of Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah is recorded by certain authors, and not in the authentic books of ḥadīth, then the historians—as is their habit—elaborated further it. There are also considerable differences found amongst the explanations of the narrators. It would be incorrect to rely on such flimsy evidence and on account of it criticise an esteemed Ṣaḥābī , who participated in Ḥudaybiyyah.

This is the way of the enemies of the Ṣaḥābah, that when they cannot prove an accusation, they remain in ambush in order to attack the position and integrity of the Ṣaḥābah . They spend all their energy in spreading something baseless. Here too, they have adopted the same approach.

There is a need to look at this issue in terms of explanation as well.

Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah holds an important position and rank in Islam, he was honoured with Islam in the year of the battle of the Trench (5 A.H) and was present at the Treaty of Hudaybiyyah.

In Dhū al-Qaʻdah 6 A.H, on the occasion of the Treaty of Ḥudaybiyyah, the disbelievers sent ʿUrwah ibn Masʿūd to negotiate with the Muslims. When he came before Rasūlullāh عَنْ الله بَنْ الله الله الله الله الله الل

Imām al-Bukhārī المناشق has mentioned this incident in the following text:

وجعل (عروة بن مسعود) يكلم النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم فكلما كلمة اخذ بلحيته والمغيرة بن شعبة قائم على راس النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم ومعه السيف وعليه المغفر فكلما اهوى عروة بيده الى لحيه النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم صلى الله عليه وسلم فقل اخريدك عن لحيه رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم فراسه فقال من هذا؟ قالوا المغيرة بن شعبة

The objective is that Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shu'bah was definitely among those who were present at Ḥudaybiyyah and Allah has mentioned many virtues in the Qur'ān with regards to those who participated at Ḥudaybiyyah. For example, Allah says:

Allah sent His tranquillity to the heart of His Rasūl and to the hearts of the Mu'minīn and stuck the word of taqwā onto them as they are most deserving of it and worthy of it. Allah always has knowledge of everything,²

² Sūrah al-Fath: 26

Therefore, Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah is is included in these virtues and is deserving of these praises. This is testimony to the fact that the actions of Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah is were correct, and whatever criticism is levelled against him is baseless and not worthy of consideration.

In addition to this, during the era of the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn, he was appointed to various positions, and during the era of a just and upright khalīfah such as Sayyidunā 'Umar 'Umar he was given the position of a governor, as is mentioned in his biography. Even after this accusation, (which proved to be false), Sayyidunā 'Umar kept him in his position as the governor of Kūfah. This highlights the good deeds and excellent character of Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah 'Lie's.

If Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah's actions were wrong, then why was he not removed from his position? Furthermore, even later, during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān , he was still kept in his position as governor.

During the khilāfah of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā , Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah was the governor of Kūfah, but he remained aloof from the mutual differences at the Battles of Jamal and Ṣiffīn and he did not take any sides. He played no part in Jamal and Ṣiffīn. Later, he once again became governor of Kūfah during the era of Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah .

The interpersonal relationship between Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shu'bah and the al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn and the honour they accorded to him is a strong reason to show that he was an noble person, who was averse to evil and wrong doing.

Another factor which indicates this is the fact that many Ṣaḥābah Aughārah ibn Tābiʿīn narrated the aḥādīth of Rasūlullāh from Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah Aughārah ibn Shuʿbah Eughārah ibn Shuʾba

- 1. Miswar ibn Makhramah مُنْوَفِّلُهُ وَعِلْمُ اللهِ عَلَيْهِ اللهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلَيْهِ اللهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلِيهِ عَلَيْهِ عَلِي عَلَيْهِ عَلِي عَلَيْهِ ع
- 2. Abū Umāmah al-Bāhilī ఉప్పేత్తు

- 3. Qays ibn Abī Hāzim هُنَافِيَةُ عَالَمُ 3.
- 4. Masrūq
- 5. Abū Wā'il
- 6. 'Urwah ibn al-Zubayr
- 7. 'Āmir al-Sha'bī
- 8. Abū Idrīs al-Khowlānī

The fact that such pious luminaries narrated ḥadīth from Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah indicates that he was pious in his deeds. This is because narrations pertaining to religious matters are not taken from a person of evil character and evil deeds, as one can never rely on an evil person as far as his dīn is concerned.

Moreover, the scholars of ḥadīth have written there are 136 aḥādīth narrated from Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah Twelve of these aḥādīth are present in the Ṣaḥīḥayn (Bukhārī and Muslim). This also points out to his nobility, reliability, and piety.

In the light of the above, it is apparent that Sayyidunā Mughīrah ibn Shuʿbah is a pious high ranking Ṣaḥābī. During the era of Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah is, he was the governor of Kūfah and he passed away in 50-51 A.H.

Those who slur and criticise him on account of baseless narrations, attempting to smear his name; their efforts will always prove futile. Sufficient to render it futile is it contradicting the practice of that era, which no intelligent person will accept.

Biography of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ

The status of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ

Amongst the senior Ṣaḥābah مَالَسَتُهُ of Rasūlullāh مَالَسَتُهُ, Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ نَشَهُ is a significant personality. He was a remarkable mujāhid of Islam, and a sterling exemplar of understanding and foresight, having great deeds to his credit in the spread of Islam.

We wish to briefly discuss the biography of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ and his services to the ummah for the readers hereunder.

Some Harbour Hatred Against the Şaḥābah

In accordance to their insolent way, the enemies of the Ṣaḥābah www overstretch their shortcomings, and attribute things to them which are contrary to reality; in an effort to generate animosity against the Ṣaḥābah. Subsequently, these critics have proliferated incorrect and baseless reports regarding Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ www in their efforts to malign him. They use disparaging terms such as 'treacherous', 'imposter' and 'deceiver' when referring to him.

The summary of their allegation against Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ is that they accuse him of having excessive greed for wealth, on account of which he was habituated to deception and treachery. He supported Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah ibn for the sake of financial gain and during the last days of his life, he regretted his actions and lamented over his decisions, along with a number of other grievances they raise against him.¹

Taking this state of affairs into consideration, we feel it only appropriate to mention the biography of Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ in brief. A just study of it will clarify his position and rank in Islam, and it will be the best way to dispel the accusations levelled against him, with the help of Allah.

Name and Lineage

He is 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ibn Wā'il al-Qurashī al-Sahmī ﷺ. His agnomen is Abū 'Abd Allāh and Abū Muḥammad according to some. His mother was al-Nābighah bint Harmalah.

The family of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ would be referred to as Banū Sahm and during the era of ignorance, they were considered to be a noble and prestigious family. They would often act as arbitrators in cases of dispute between tribes.

Life Before Islam

'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ was at the forefront of opposition and enmity towards Islam, until the day his heart was illuminated by it.

During the early days of Islam, when the persecution against the Muslims grew intense, Rasūlullāh instructed a small band of Muslims to migrate to Abyssinia. The leaders of this caravan were Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn Umayyah al-Damarī and Sayyidunā Ja'far ibn Abī Ṭālib instructed. They took up temporary residence in Abyssinia. During this time, a delegation from the Quraysh—headed by 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ instructed a small band of Muslims of Abyssinia) in an attempt to have these Muslims returned to Makkah.

'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ was the chief spokesman of this delegation. He presented himself in the court of al-Najāshī and made a concerted effort to have the Muslims expelled from Abyssinia. They presented a number of gifts, leather and other items, to the king, and then requested the king to expel the Muslims from his land and return them to Makkah. The discussion that ensued between 'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ and al-Najāshī has been reported in Sīrah ibn Hishām, with various e supporting narrations reported in other books as well. Remember that these discussions were unsuccessful, and al-Najāshī became angry at 'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ www, making his efforts in vain. Ibn Hishām reports on the authority of 'Amr ibn al-ʿĀs www:

ثم قلت (عمرو بن العاص) له ايها الملك والله لو طننت انط تكره هذا ما سالتكه قال اتسالني ان اعطيك رسول رجل ياتيه الناموس الاكبر الذي كان ياتي موسى لتقتله قال قلت ايها الملك كذالك هو؟ قال ويحك يا عمرو اطعني واتبعه فانه والله لعلى الحق وليظهرن على ما خالفه كما ظهر موسى على فرعون وجنوده قال قلت افتبا يعني له على الاسلام؟ قال نعم فبسط يده فبايعته على الاسلام ثم خرجت الى اصحابي وقد حال رائي عما كان عليه وكتمت اصحابي اسلامي

I ('Amr ibn al-'Āṣ) said to him: "O king, by Allah, if I knew that you would dislike this then I would not have made this request from you." Al-Najāshī said: "Do you request me to hand over to you the messenger of the one to whom al-Nāmūs (the angel) comes, the very same angel who would come to Nabī Mūsā *?" I asked: "O king is this matter as you have said?" Al-Najāshī replied: "Woe to you O 'Amr, accept what I say and become a follower. By Allah, this Rasūl  is upon the truth and whoever opposes him will be overpowered, just as Nabī Mūsā  overpowered Fir'own and his army." I said to him: "Will you take my pledge upon Islam (on his behalf)?" He replied that he would, and extended his hand, which I held and pledged my allegiance to Islam. I then returned to my companions, and my opinion (regarding Islam) was now different to what it was (having been enlightened with īmān), I thus concealed this from my companions.¹

There is much more reported regarding this incident of the migration to Abyssinia, however we have sufficed on the portion which relates to the biography of 'Amr ibn al-' \bar{A} s ****.

Acceptance of Islam

'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ returned after having met with the king of Abyssinia. During the period of the treaty between the Muslims and the Quraysh of Makkah, in Safar

8 A.H, approximately six months before the conquest of Makkah, 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ migrated to Madīnah to embrace Islam. Khālid ibn Walīd and 'Uthmān ibn Ṭalḥah also presented themselves before Rasūlullāh at the same time to embrace Islam.

Khālid ibn Walīd نَّ هُ was first followed by 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ هُ بِهُ بِهِ , who first said: "Extend your hand so that I may pledge my allegiance to you." However, when Rasūlullāh مُنْ stretched out his hand out, 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ هُ اللهُ pulled his back, saying: "I want to place a condition before I accept Islam." Rasūlullāh مُنْ answered: "What condition do you wish to place?" 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ هُ عَنْ اللهُ عَنْ اللهُ وَاللهُ عَنْ اللهُ وَاللهُ وَاللّهُ وَاللّه

O 'Amr, do you not know that accepting Islam wipes out everything done before it and migrating wipes out all \sin done before it and performing $\dot{\mu}$ ajj wipes out all \sin done before it?¹

'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ and his companions embraced Islam, and along with it, honour and love for Rasūlullāh ﷺ entered the heart of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ to such an extent that he ﷺ says:

There was none more beloved to me than Rasūlullāh من There was no one greater than him in my eyes, to such an extent that on account of the grandeur of Rasūlullāh من I could not look at him directly, and if I was asked about the description of Rasūlullāh منافعة , I would not have the ability to describe him.²

Testimony of Īmān

Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ ﴿ وَاللَّهُ وَاللَّهُ وَاللَّهُ اللَّهُ وَاللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ وَاللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّاللَّا اللَّهُ الل

Sayyidunā Abū Hurayrah هُوَ narrates that Rasūlullāh عَالَمُ said:

The two sons of 'Āṣ ibn Wā'il, Hishām ibn al-'Āṣ and 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ are believers.¹

Another Testimony

Similarly, the Muḥaddithīn have recorded another incident which testifies to the sincere belief of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ. Imām Nasā'ī ﷺ in his famous work al-Sunan al-Kubrā reports with his chain of narration:

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ 🛶 narrates:

On one occasion the people of Madīnah were overcome with panic and fear causing people to disperse. At that time I saw that Sālim, the freed slave of Abū Ḥudhayfah , was sitting in al-Masjid al-Nabawī armed with his sword. When I saw him in this condition, I too armed myself with my sword and sat with him in the Masjid.

During this time, Rasūlullāh على came out, and saw Sālim and me in this condition. Everyone then arrived and Rasūlullāh addressed them saying: "In the case of fear and worry, why did you not come to Allah and His Rasūl? Why did you not do as these two believers have done?" 2

Testimony of His Piety and Righteousness

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ 'ﷺ was regarded as a true believer and was held in esteem by others. He was furthered honoured by Allah in that Rasūlullāh 'testified in his favour with regards to his piety and righteousness. The famous Sahābī, Sayyidunā Ṭalhah ibn 'Ubayd Allāh 'jos 's aid to those present around him:

I shall tell you that which I heard from Rasūlullāh المنطقة. Rasūlullāh المنطقة. Rasūlullāh عليه على Rasūlullāh عليه على Rasūlullāh على Rasū

In another narration it is reported that Rasūlullāh ﷺ said: "Abū 'Abd Allāh (Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ), Umm 'Abd Allāh, and 'Abd Allāh (ibn 'Amr ibn al-'Ās) are an excellent household."

Other Characteristics

A few of the senior Tābiʿīn mention some of the virtues of Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ . The comments of Qabīṣah ibn Jābir are quoted hereunder wherein his excellent characteristics are mentioned along with his lofty deeds. Al-Shaʿbī narrates:

Qabīsah ibn Jābir said: "I accompanied 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ and I have not seen anyone more articulate in his explanation of the Qur'ān, nor someone with nobler character, nor one whose inner state conformed so greatly to his outer state; than him."

² Al-Iṣābah vol. 3 p. 2, Siyar A'lām al-Nubalā' vol. 3 p. 38

Narration of Hadīth

Just as the scholars of ḥadīth have counted the narrations and aḥādīth of the other Ṣaḥābah , in the same way they have counted the number of aḥādīth reported by Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ . 'Allāmah al-Khazrajī in Tahdhīb al-Tahdhīb al-Kamāl states:

He has thirty-nine narrations.1

The purpose of citing this fact is to illustrate that just as Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ نقيقة played a major role in the Islamic conquests so too did he render considerable service in relating ḥadīth and informing the ummah of the statements of Rasūlullāh منافقة ألمانية ألماني

Ability in Warfare

Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ هُ هُ هُ was naturally gifted with expertise in warfare, and Rasūlullāh مَا مُسْتَعَبِينَ appreciated this inherent quality. Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ هُ عَلَيْكَ says:

When Khālid ibn al-Walīd and I accepted Islam, then Rasūlullāh did not take anyone as equal to us in warfare. 2

There is corroboration for the narration of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-' \bar{A} s, quoted above in the texts of the historians and biographers. They have mentioned his ability in the following text:

وكان من رجال قريش رايا ودهاء وحزما وكفائة وبصيرا بالحروب ومن اشراف ملوك العرب ومن اعيان المهاجرين

'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ was of those of the Quraysh who held sound opinions, among the intelligent strategists, cautious by nature, just and fair with his contemporaries, and had deep foresight in matters of war. He was counted among the nobles of the Arabs and among the senior Muhājirīn.¹

The Battle of Dhāt al-Salāsil

Rasūlullāh المنافقة appointed Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ منافقة as the general in the Battle of Dhāt al-Salāsil. The family of his father, 'Āṣ ibn Wā'il, resided there. His mission was to invite them to Islam and after embracing Islam, he called them to wage jihād in the path of Allah.

The scholars have written that the army of Islam comprised of about three hundred soldiers. When the mujahidin entered the locality, they requested reinforcements, and Rasūlullāh despatched a group of the Muhājirīn to assist them. Many senior Ṣaḥābah were present in this second battalion, such as Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar despatched', and the leader of this battalion was Sayyidunā Abū 'Ubaydah ibn al-Jarrāh 'Edisch'.

'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ replied: "O Rasūl of Allah, I did not embrace Islam out of desire for wealth, but I embraced Islam desirous of jihād and your company." Rasūlullāh said: "Pure and permissible wealth is good for a pious and righteous person."

Destroying Idols

In 8 A.H, when Makkah was conquered, Rasūlullāh sent various Ṣaḥābah to different areas in order to destroy idols. There was an idol by the name Suwāʿ among the tribe of Hudhayl. Rasūlullāh sent Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ and his other Ṣaḥābah to destroy it. Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ arrates:

When we arrived, there was an attendant present at the idol. He said: "With what intention have you come?" I replied: "Rasūlullāh commanded me to destroy." The attendant answered: "You will not have the ability to do it." I asked him why and he responded: "This idol will defend itself." I said: "You still have baseless thoughts, can this idol hear or can it see anything?"

I then advanced and destroyed it. I then commanded my companions to destroy the treasure room as well, but they did not find anything inside. I then said to the attendant: "What do you think now?" He said: "I accept Islam for the sake of Allah."

Natural Ability and Confidence in Religious Matters

Pass verdict over their dispute.

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ఉడ్డ్ముత్త్ said:

O Rasūlullāh مَالْسَعَانِيسَة, you are more able and worthy of this matter than me.

Rasūlullāh صَأَلِتَهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ said:

Although I have more right (you still pass verdict).

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Ās ﷺ asked:

How will it be beneficial for me to decide?

Upon this, Rasūlullāh مَأَلَّسُهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّةُ said by way of principle:

If you rule correctly between them, you will get ten rewards and if you err in your ijtihād, you will get one good reward.²

It is apparent from this incident that Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ مُوَلِيَّكُ was regarded as an able, sincere and devout person by Rasūlullāh مَا تَسْتَعْلِيوَسَدُّ relied upon his natural ability, this is why Rasūlullāh مَا تَسْتَعْلِيوَسَدُّ asked him to pass verdict in this particular case.

and Leadership of 'Ammān صَالِّتُهُ مَلِيهُ وَسَالًا and Leadership of 'Ammān

The scholars of sīrah have written that in 8 A.H, Rasūlullāh sent Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﴿ with a letter to the two kings of 'Ammān — Jayfar and 'Abd — inviting them to Islam. Both of were the sons of al-Julandī and were from the tribe of Azd. Jayfar was the king and ruler of 'Ammān.

Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ هَ نَوْسَتُهُ was sent to invite them to Islam. Rasūlullāh sent a letter to both brothers inviting them to Islam and the letter was marked with the seal of Rasūlullāh مَا يَسْتَعْبُونَا . Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ مُؤْسِنَةُ narrates:

I reached 'Ammān. 'Abd was the more tolerant of the brothers and softer in nature. I headed to him and said: "I have come with the message of Rasūlullāh to you." He said, "My brother is elder and he is the king. I shall arrange a meeting with him for you. He will read your letter." I stayed for a few days there, after which he called for me. I entered and presented the letter to him. The seal was still intact. He opened it and read it in entirety. He then gave the letter to his brother, who also read it. He said: "Wait until tomorrow." I came the next day and he said: "I pondered extensively over this invitation; I shall be considered a weak person among the Arabs if a single person were to take control of all I rule." I then said: "if that is the case then I will leave tomorrow."

فلما ايقن بمحزجي اصبح فارسل الى فدخلت عليه فاجاب الى الاسلام هو واخوه جميعا وصدقا بالنبي صلى الله عليه وسلم وخليا بيني وبين الصدقة وبين الحكم فيما بينهم وكانا لى عونا على من خالفني فاخذت الصدقة من اغنيائهم فردوتها في فقرائهم فلم ازل مقيما فيهم حتى بلغنا وفاة رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم

When they were convinced that I would depart the next day, they sent for me and both brothers embraced Islam and testified to the nubuwwah of Nabī They gave me permission to collect the charity from that area and they did not stop me. If anyone opposed me in this work, then they both helped me. I collected the charity from the wealthy of that area and divided it amongst the poor and needy who resided there. I remained there until news of the demise of Rasūlullāh

Services During the Khilāfah Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā 'Umar

We have discussed in brief the services of Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ نواته to the ummah during the lifetime of Rasūlullāh مالته . In addition to this, there are many noble services which he rendered for Islam during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā ʿUmar والمالة . For example, in the thirteenth year after hijrah:

After Sayyidunā Abū Bakr returned after performing ḥajj, he sent Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ towards Palestine, just as he sent Sayyidunā Yazīd ibn Abī Sufyān, Sayyidunā Abū 'Ubaydah ibn al-Jarrāḥ, Sayyidunā Shuraḥbīl ibn Ḥasanah is and others towards Balqā'.²

Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāṭ has clarified further on the authority of Ibn Isḥāq:

قال ابن اسحق ثم ساروا جميعا قبل فلسطين فالتقوا باجنادين ... والامراء كل على جنده يزعم بعض الناس ان عمرو بن العاص رضي الله عنه كان عليهم جميعا وعلى الروم القيقلاء فقتل القيقلاء وهزم الله المشركين وذالك يوم السبت الثلاث يقين من جمادي الاولى سنة ثلاث عشر

² Tārīkh Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāt vol. 1 p. 86

In accordance with the instruction of Sayyidunā Abū Bakr , all of them departed for Syria, and they gathered at Ajnādayn. Every leader supervised his battalion. Some historians have written that Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ was the overall leader. In opposition to them, the leader of the Roman army was Qayqalā'. He was killed in this battle and Allah defeated the polytheists. This took place in Jumād al-Ūlā 13 A.H.

Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāṭ has also reported that in this battle of Ajnādayn, the brother of Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ , Hishām ibn al-ʿĀṣ was martyred.¹

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ participated in the Battle of Yarmūk and underwent great difficulty and trials, but Allah granted the Muslims victory over the opposition.²

Some historians have written that later on, Sayyidunā Abū ʿUbaydah ibn al-Jarrāḥ sent him to Ḥalab, Rayy, Anṭākiyyah, etc., (and he gained control over these areas, continuing his advance) and conquered the area of Qinsarīn.³

Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāṭ reports:

'Umar appointed 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ as the governor over Palestine and Jordan.4

Services to the Ummah in Egypt

The historians state that Sayyidunā ʿUmar wrote a letter to Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ instructing him to head towards Egypt. Subsequently, he departed for Egypt. Sayyidunā Zubayr ibn al-ʿAwwām and other Ṣaḥābah were sent to Egypt to assist him and through their efforts, Egypt was conquered. Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ remained the governor of Egypt until the demise of Sayyidunā ʿUmar .¹

In accordance to the clear texts of the historians, in 21 A.H, 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ conquered Alexandria and in 20 A.H, the year before, he conquered an area called Alyūn. After this, he turned towards Tarāblus and in 23 A.H, he conquered it and brought it under Islamic rule.²

Imām al-Nawāwī هَمُنْاللَهُ has written in Tahdhīb al-Asmā:

Then 'Umar sent him with an army to Egypt, and he conquered it. He remained the governor of Egypt until the demise of 'Umar se, then 'Uthmān left him as governor for a further four years then relieved him. 'Amr then settled in Palestine and he would come to Madīnah from time to time.'

Previously we discussed the expertise of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ with regards to warfare, the details can be found in the works of history, describing his exploits in battle and his contribution to the conquests. It shed light on his position and rank in Islam, and his efforts in the spread of Islam are brought to the fore.

The Arbitration Incident

The historians write that during the khilāfah of Sayyidunā 'Uthmān 'Éés, after being relieved as governor of Egypt, Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ 'Éés would generally stay in Palestine. In Battle of Ṣiffīn between Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā Éés and Sayyidunā Mu'āwiyah Éés both groups proposed arbitration for the sake of expediency. Sayyidunā Abū Mūsā al-Ash'arī Éés was chosen as an arbiter on behalf of Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā Éés and Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ Éés was chosen as an arbiter on behalf of Sayyidunā Mu'āwiyah Éés.

Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāţ writes:

وفيها (صفر ٣٧ه) اجتمع الحكمان ابو موسى الاشعري رضي الله عنه من قبل علي رضي الله عنه وعمرو بن العاص رضي الله عنه من قبل معاوية رضي الله عنه بدومة الجندل في شهر رمضان ويقال باذرح وهي من دومة الجندل قريب فبعث على ابن عباس ولم يحضر وحضر معاوية فلم يتفق الحكمان على شيئ

In Ṣafar 37 A.H, the two arbiters — Abū Mūsā al-Ashʿarī representing ʿAlī and ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ representing Muʿāwiyah — met at Adhraḥ (or Bādharaḥ), close to Dowmat al-Jandal (on the borders of Shām). ʿAlī sent Ibn ʿAbbās in his place and did not personally attend, and Muʿāwiyah attended. The two arbiters could not agree upon anything.

(The details of this incident have been mentioned in the works of history works and we have discussed this in detail in our works; Sīrah Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā and Sīrah Amīr Muʿāwiyah vol. 1.)

In short, there was no deception or trickery that took place in the incident of arbitration that led to its failure (as the historians like Ṭabarī (d. 310 A.H) have recorded), but the two arbiters differed with regards to the course of action, and as a result they could not come to an agreement on a solution. We have discussed this as reported from the oldest historian, Khalīfah Ibn Khayyāṭ (d. 240 A.H). It deserves our attention, and when taking into consideration the piety and just nature of the Sahābah , this is most correct and authentic.

Attack

After the Battle of Ṣiffīn, Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ remained in Egypt — during the era of Sayyidunā Mu'āwiyah — and he was appointed its governor and ruler. After the Battle of Nahrawān, in Ramaḍān 40 A.H, some of the Khawārij ('Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Muljim al-Murādī, 'Amr ibn Bukayr, Bark ibn 'Abd Allāh) met in the Ḥarām of Makkah and decided that these three, Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā, Sayyidunā Mu'āwiyah and Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ , should be killed so that people could be saved from their oppression. They decided that this assassination should be carried out on the same day. 'Abd al-Raḥmān ibn Muljim al-Murādī said:

I take the responsibility to kill 'Alī ibn Ṭālib.

Bark ibn 'Abd Allāh said:

I shall kill Muʻāwiyah ibn Abī Sufyān.

and 'Amr ibn Bukayr promised to kill Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ.

We have discussed the fatal attack on Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā ﷺ and Sayyidunā Mu'āwiyah ﷺ before, in Sīrah Sayyidunā 'Alī al-Murtaḍā ﷺ and Sīrah Amīr Mu'āwiyah ﷺ vol. 1.

Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā was martyred through the attack of Ibn Muljim al-Murādī. Bark ibn ʿAbd Allāh attacked Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah but only managed to wound him. Now, we shall discuss briefly the attack on Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ .

'Amr ibn Bakr or 'Amr ibn Bukayr entered Egypt with this objective in mind, and intended to attack at the time of Fajr Ṣalāh. On that day, Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ did not come to the masjid to lead the ṣalāh because of a stomach ailment and he sent his police officer, Khārijah ibn Abī Ḥabībah (or Khārijah ibn Ḥudhāfah), in his place. 'Amr ibn Bukayr hid in the masjid with the intention to attack as soon as he arrived to lead the ṣalāh:

فحمل عليه الخارجي فقتله وهو يعتقد عمرو بن العاص فلما اخذ الخارجي قال اردت عمروا واراد الله خارجة فارسلها مثلا وقتل قبحه الله وقد قيل ان الذي قالها عمرو بن العاص رضي الله عنه وذالك حين جيئ بالخارجي فقال ما هذا؟ قالوا قتل نائبك خارجة ثم امر به فضربت عنقه

(Khārijah arrived for the ṣalāh and) ʿAmr ibn Bukayr attacked and killed him. When he was captured, he said: "My intention was to kill ʿAmr but Allah had willed the martyrdom of Khārijah." Some say that Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ s said this particular statement on this occasion. After this, the Khārijī, Bark ibn ʿAbd Allāh, was killed.¹

Final Moments

During the era of Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah , Sayyidunā ʿAmr ibn al-ʿĀṣ remained the governor of Egypt and established an excellent administration system, and he continued efforts to spread Islam. Looking at his excellent abilities, Sayyidunā Muʿāwiyah did not see any need to remove him and he remained for a major part of his life in Egypt.

As the years passed, the time came when Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ' too suffered with the frailties of old age. During this time, Ibn Shumāsah al-Mahdī would attend to him. Due to the severity of his illness, he was in extreme difficulty. Ibn Shumāsah narrates that Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ' turned his face to the fall as he wept. His son, Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Amr ' asked: "O father, did Rasūlullāh ' not convey glad tidings to you?" Sayyidunā 'Amr ' turned to his son and said:

The best is the glad tidings of towhīd and risālat (which I have). There have been three stages in my life:

- My condition before Islam was that I harboured extreme enmity for Rasūlullāh and I was desirous of taking his life. If I were to have passed away at that time, I would have definitely been among the dwellers of Jahannam.
- After this, Allah placed the truth of Islam in my heart and I presented myself to Rasūlullāh and asked that forgiveness of my sins be a condition for accepting Islam. (The detail of this discussion was mentioned before under the discussion of his coming to Islam, as narrated in Muslim). If I were to have passed away at that time, I would have definitely been of the dwellers of Jannah.
- After that, I was put in charge of a number of affairs. I do not know how I will fare with regards to them.¹

In addition to the narration above, the scholars have mentioned that when the demise of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ the drew closer, he expressed his helplessness and inability before Allah, in this state of worry he said:

"O Allah, You have instructed us with a number of things and You have forbidden us from a number of things. We have left out many commands and we have delved into much which You have prohibited. O Allah, there is no deity but You..." He continued reciting "there is no deity but Allah," until he passed away, may Allah be pleased with him.²

The following is stated in the hadīth:

² Siyar A'lām al-Nubalā' vol. 3 p. 51, Tahdhīb al-Asmā' wa l-Lughāt vol. 1 p. 30

Sayyidunā Muʻādh ibn Jabal anarrates that Rasūlullāh said: "He whose last words are 'there is no deity but Allah,' will enter Jannah."

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ was reciting the kalimah of towḥīd till his last breath, which is a clear proof of noble departure from this world, and is a sign of his salvation in the hereafter as well as entry into Jannah.

Date of Demise

Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ was approximately seventy years old at the time of his demise and passed away on the night of 'Īd al-Fiṭr. His Ṣalāt al-Janāzah was performed after the 'Īd Ṣalāh by his son, Sayyidunā 'Abd Allāh ibn 'Amr , and he was buried in Muqṭim.'

A Misconception

There were certain statements that Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-ʿĀṣ wittered during his final moments, in his state of worry and concern for the hereafter, such as his statements:

O Allah, You have instructed us with a number of things and You have forbidden us from a number of things. We have left out many commands and we have delved into much which You have prohibited.

After that, I was put in charge of a number of affairs. I do not know how I will fare with regards to them.

² Tahdhīb al-Asmā' wa l-Lughāt vol. 1 p. 30, Usd al-Ghābah vol. 4 p. 117

On account of these statements, criticism has been levelled against Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ ﷺ, with the claim being made that he openly attested to his errors and misdeeds, becoming utterly despondent of forgiveness, indicating a horrid departure.

Removing the Misconception

A number of points have been mentioned in this regard, and if one were to ponder over them objectively then this misconception will be removed, and all doubts will be dispelled.

Generally concern for the hereafter overpowers the pious servants of Allah, and in turn they express their helplessness and inability before Allah; seeking forgiveness. The words that they utter in such times are a sign of their humility, which is the fruit of their fear of Allah.

A few examples of this are presented to the readers which will bear testimony to the point above, more so when statements of this nature are found to be reported from Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā .

On one occasion, Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā ﴿ عَلَيْنَا فَعَلَى stood and said: "After the Rasūl of Allah مَالَّسَةُ عَلَيْهِ وَمَالُهُ وَلَمُ اللهِ لَهُ اللهِ لَهُ اللهِ لَهُ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ اللهُ اللهُ

After him, we did a number of new things, Allah will decide as He wishes with regards to them. $^{\rm 1}$

2. Abū Nuʿaym al-Isfahānī المُنْفَقِينَ narrates with his chain of narration that on one occasion, Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā مُنْفِقَةُ delivered a sermon wherein he said after praising and glorifying Allah: "O people, Rasūlullāh المُنْفِقَةُ اللهُ ال was the best and most virtuous of this ummah. After him, the best person in the ummah is Abū Bakr, and after him 'Umar.' He then said:

We then did a number of new things, Allah will decide as He wishes with regards to them. 1

3. Khatīb al-Baghdādī reports in his work the advice of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā . He would say that after Rasūlullāh , the best of the ummah is Sayyidunā Abū Bakr and Sayyidunā ʿUmar . Sayyidunā ʿAlī then said:

After them, we did a number of things, Allah will decide regarding them as He wishes.²

The purport of the above-mentioned words of Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā will be taken to be a sign of his immense fear of Allah. He uttered these words in humility, referring to his own shortcomings. It will never be correct to suggest that this was an admission of guilt or a blemish upon Sayyidunā ʿAlī al-Murtaḍā willow.

Similarly, another famous Ṣaḥābī, Sayyidunā al-Barā' ibn ʿĀzib , also narrates these words. It is reported in al-Bukhārī:

Al-ʿAlā ibn al-Musayyib narrates from his father, he said: "I met al-Barā' ibn ʿĀzib and I said: 'Glad tidings for you, you had the companionship of Rasūlullāh ﷺ and pledged allegiance to him under the tree.' In reply, al-Barā' ibn 'Āzib ﷺ said: 'O nephew, you do not know what new things we did after Rasūlullāh ﷺ''.'

In this also, Sayyidunā al-Barā' ibn 'Āzib said these words out of humility, displaying his helplessness before Allah. We cannot take the purport of these words to be that he was disobedient to Allah and sinful.

Final Words

The readers should weigh these criticisms against the blessed life of Sayyidunā 'Amr ibn al-'Āṣ and the services he rendered to the ummah (as was explained in brief in the beginning of the section), and then decide whether they have any merit. A critical objective study carried out in manner will answer all these misconceptions, and there will be no need for further discussion. If the circumstances of each stage of his life is kept in mind — his early years, the era of Islam, and then his last days — then there will remain no need to defend or clarify anything. His deeds after him embracing Islam are sufficient reply to all the allegations. If all this is cast aside, and one's objective is only to criticise and degrade, then this is a result of innate malice and enmity, for which there is no treatment. And Allah is the guide; Allah guides whomsoever He wishes to the straight path.
